

Ike All but Endorses Nixon for Ticket; Deputy Supervisor Proposed for Esopus

Officials Can Make Selection

Eckert Still Has Books, Records

Who is supervisor of the town of Esopus will undoubtedly be determined by "quo warranto" proceedings brought by the attorney general's office, John Schick attorney for Arnold L. Ellsworth, stated today.

Meanwhile a proposal has been submitted by Schick to N. LeVan Haver, counsel for Edward Eckert, that under Section 42 of the Town Law a deputy supervisor be named to carry on town business pending determination as to whether Edward Eckert, elected last November, shall serve or whether Arnold L. Ellsworth, appointed by the town board shall serve.

THAT SUGGESTION was made today following the decision of Supreme Court Justice William Deekelman at Hudson yesterday that the Supreme Court was without power to direct Eckert to turn over the books and records of the town to Ellsworth in a summary proceeding brought under Section 80 of the Public Officers Law.

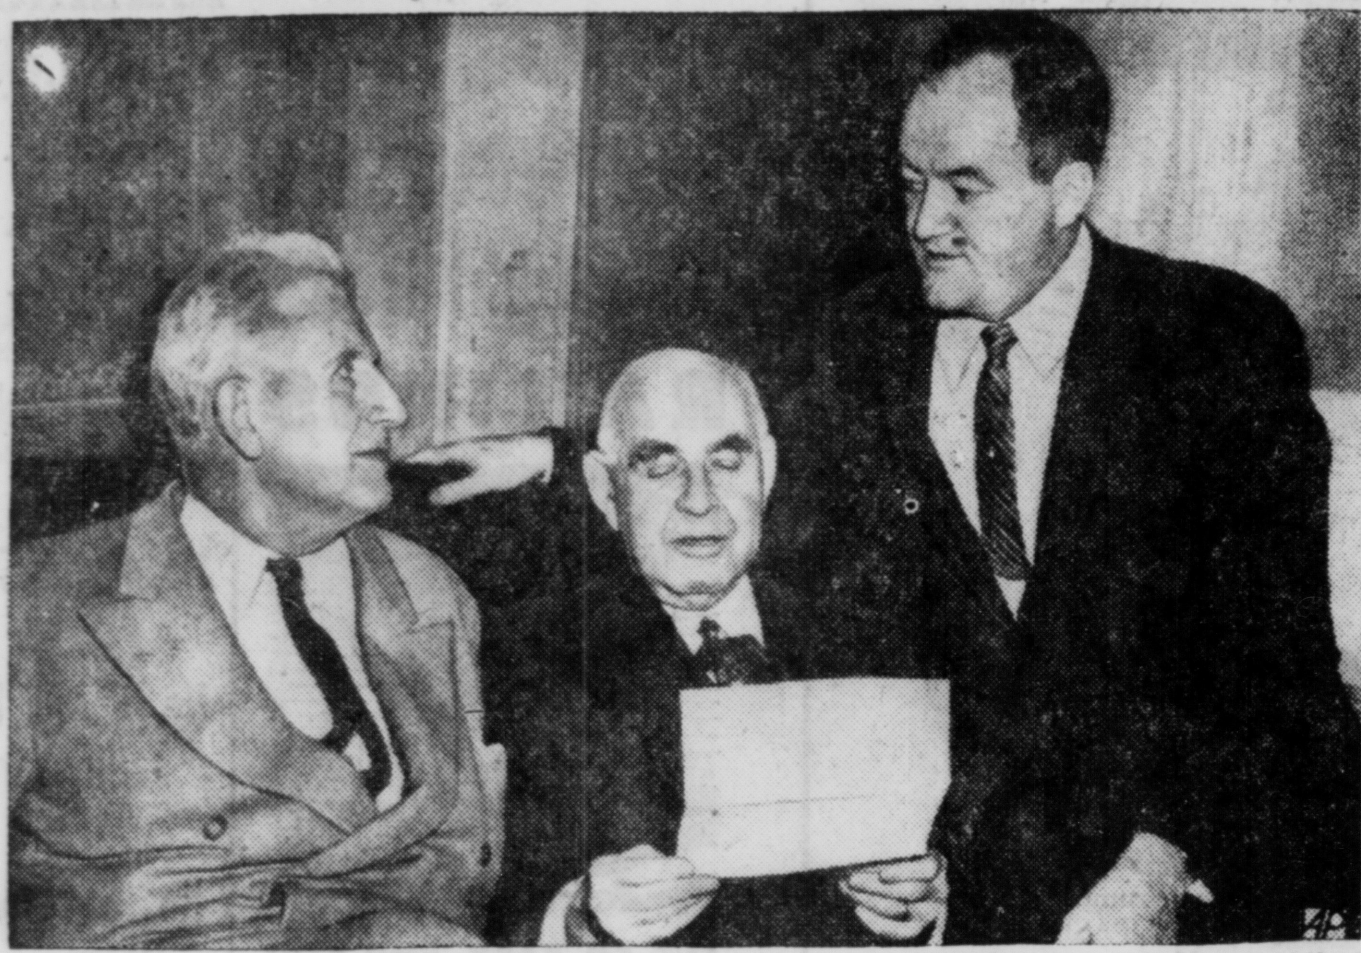

Justice Deekelman dismissed the petition of Arnold L. Ellsworth by which, under a show cause order, he had sought to compel Eckert to turn over the town books and records.

Summary proceedings had been brought, Schick said today, in an effort to bring about a possible early determination of the question as to whether Eckert or Ellsworth should serve. The longer "quo warranto" proceeding will now have to be restored to.

UNDER SECTION 42 of the Town Law a supervisor may appoint a deputy supervisor to act for him, and in the event the supervisor fails within five days to do so, the town board may appoint such deputy. The appointed deputy supervisor may carry on all activities usually conducted by the supervisor except that he may not vote at town board meetings or represent the town on the board of supervisors.

Schick said he had suggested to opposing counsel that it be agreed that both Eckert and Ellsworth refrain from making any appointment and that after the five-day period had elapsed, the town board meet and name as deputy supervisor a "neutral" person to carry on so that payrolls and bills might be met.

SCHICK SAID he had approached the state comptroller with the proposition yesterday and that office had agreed "under the circumstances" this plan would be approved. Also the counsel for the State of New York (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Schools Figure $121,400,000 Gain This Year

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (P)—School districts of New York state figure to gain about $121,400,000 in additional state aid during the next school year.

This will be the largest increase ever granted by the state for a single year and the largest boost in educational aid by any state in the nation.

IT WILL PUSH the state-aid program for schools slightly over the 400-million-dollar mark. The big increase was virtually wrapped up last night when Gov. Harriman announced that he and the Republican majority leaders of the legislature had agreed to raise the Heald Commission's recommendations by $32,100,000.

The commission had proposed boosting educational assistance by about $57,500,000 in the next school year, which begins July 1. The GOP-Harriman proposals would lift that to $89,600,000.

IN ADDITION, the state will have to pay out in the next school year about $31,800,000 more in regular aid than in the current year. This is because of a steady rise in the school population, a key factor in the formula used for apportioning regular assistance.

Harriman announced agreement with the GOP on six changes and additions to the Heald program. Two were proposed by him. The Republicans advocated the others.

THE DEMOCRATIC governor suggested:

1. Increasing aid for mentally handicapped, delinquent and non-English speaking children to a maximum of $10 for each such child in average daily attendance. The commission had proposed aid up to $6 a child. The increase would add $4,000,000 to the Heald program.

Most of the money would go to large cities.

2. Adjusting the formula for aid to boards of cooperative educational service so as to continue assistance at the current level.

Viaduct Elimination Plan Voted

9-W Bridge Link Passes

A bill authorizing construction of an important strip of road to connect with the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge passed in both assembly and senate at Albany today, and another aimed at eliminating the Washington avenue viaduct bottleneck passed in the assembly.

The bridge bill, sponsored by State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, provides for construction of a strip of road to connect Route 9W and the west approach of the bridge, and the other bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, would open the way for elimination of the viaduct and narrow Esopus creek bridge.

Senator Wicks' bill provides for the building of a strip of road that will be essential to the opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge late this year, and if the measure gains Gov. Harriman's signature, start of the project could be authorized in the late spring or summer.

Assemblyman Wilson's bill was expected to go to the Senate this afternoon. It calls for adding a section of Washington avenue from the city line to North Front street to the city's state-planned arterial route system, so that the viaduct can be eliminated and the narrow bridge replaced.

A similar measure was vetoed by Gov. Harriman last year.

The new bridge road would connect Route 9W with the western bridge approach at a point near where Route 32 and the approach road now intersect.

Chamber Budget for 1956-57 Is $18,000

Area Roads, Routes Considered

Another busy and fruitful session marked the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A resolution calling for a comprehensive program of area highway improvements and arterial routes was adopted.

A budget of $18,000 for the fiscal year of 1956-57 starting on May 1 was approved. The budget provides for an income based on 650 basic memberships at $25 each and six sustaining memberships at $250 each. At present the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce has 602 paid basic memberships with 21 additional members on the active list.

Two important legislative actions were taken. One was to

Schick Expected To Resign Soon

The resignation of John J. Schick as assistant district attorney of Ulster county is expected to be announced shortly, it was learned today.

District Attorney Howard St. John was not available this afternoon for confirmation of the resignation. The successor to Mr. Schick has been named, it is understood, and will be announced later.

Merchants Oppose Public Housing Tie-in Favor Urban Plan Downtown

A resolution favoring completion of an urban renewal project for a downtown area without a tie-in with a public housing development was adopted by the Rondout Area Business Men's Association last night.

The meeting in the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway drew an attendance of nearly 100, and Alfred J. P. Seitz, the association's president, held that "the people could not afford to risk the stripping of two more city blocks in the sixth ward to justify a housing project in Kingman Park, or in any other section of the city."

Police Car Damaged in Mishap

Truck Hits House Today

On Lower Broadway Hill

A mishap on the Broadway hill, believed due to slippery conditions, resulted in damage to two trailer trucks, a police car, another truck, a house and a light pole, early today, but only one person was reported injured.

A TRAILER truck first ran into the house and parked truck at about 5:30 a. m., and the police car was hit and damaged when a second trailer truck rolled into the accident as patrolmen were investigating.

Nicholas Maggio, 32, of 1612 Grouse street, Utica, who reported a back injury, was the only one hurt. He was riding in the first trailer-truck, and was to be treated by a doctor after the mishap.

THE HOUSE of William McCloskey, 210 Broadway, was damaged on the side and front, and the parked pickup truck of William S. Tubby, 208 Broadway, was struck and damaged.

Officers Gerald Every and John Frash reported at 5:35 a. m., that the first trailer truck, owned by the Atlas Import & Export Corp., 190 Green street, New York, operated by Daniel Maggio, of 137 1/2 Eagle street, New York, was headed south on Broadway, when it struck the house, pickup truck and pole.

ONE SIDE of the house was knocked in and the front door was damaged, police said. The street light pole was knocked down, and wires were reported hanging loose. The pickup truck was towed from the scene.

The second trailer truck, owned by Anchor Motor Freight Co., of 1001 West Linden avenue, Cliffside, N. J., and driven by Robert W. Scullion, 29, of Cliffside Park, was also headed south on Broadway. It struck the police car, which was then

"We know of no valid reason," it said, "why this improvement should be connected or consolidated with any other housing proposition, state or local, which might well, by reason of the additional expense involved, jeopardize the whole situation, and leave the sixth ward without relief from the deplorable conditions now existing."

The resolution was adopted unanimously and President Seitz was directed to forward a copy of it to Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

SEVERAL aldermen attended the session and George P. Norton, Jr., sixth ward, said he was in favor of proceeding with urban redevelopment as soon as possible and was unalterably opposed to any tie between it and a low-cost housing development in Kingman Park.

Other aldermen attending were Frank C. Sass, seventh ward; Samuel J. Perry, fifth ward; Richard V. Roth, 12th ward, and William S. Keyser, second ward, who indicated he was wholly in favor of the urban renewal plan, but had not yet decided on the proposed low-cost housing project.

SEITZ SAID he feared a costly delay if the urban renewal plan were held up and the housing project were approved.

The present "vacant lot" in the sixth ward, he said, "had taken $22,010 assessment off the tax roll, and replaced it with a tax-exempt project, Colonial Gar-

Spread Plants: Survey Director

Calls CD System Waste

Washington, March 14 (P)—Congress was told today most of the money spent for civil defense is wasted and the present program "is worse than no program at all."

The estimate came from Otto L. Nelson Jr., insurance executive who directed "Project East River," an extensive study of civil defense. He gave his views in testimony prepared for a House government operations subcommittee considering legislation to strengthen civil defense.

Nelson said the Soviets might never attack the United States if they knew as much as 30 per cent of U. S. industry would survive the first bombs.

A major goal of civil defense, he said, should be to "obtain a balanced 30 per cent of our gross national production outside of the metropolitan target zones"—because, he added, 30 per cent of U. S. production is equal to all of the Soviets.

He said the money now being spent on civil defense "is largely wasted in that our present non-military defense program is so ineffective and fragmentary that it is worse than no program at all."

Nelson, who is a vice president of the New York Life Insurance Co., said location of 30 per cent of productive capacity away from metropolitan targets could be accomplished without too much difficulty and without dispersing existing cities and industrial areas. He said federal-local cooperation and leadership would be required as industry grows. Nelson said the country is not too far from the goal he outlined.

If it could be achieved, he went on, "the Soviets would then be confronted with the sobering realization that even if they were successful beyond all reasonable expectation in overcoming our active military and air defenses and in driving home an atomic attack against all our great centers . . . there would still remain an industrial capacity and a productive might equal to that existing in the Soviet Union before the awesome power of our Strategic Air Command was unleashed in terrible retaliation."

Nelson opposed proposals to place Civil Defense in the Defense Department on the ground the military should not be hampered in its main task and local all.

Kingston Pay Is Higher, Says Government Report

New York, March 14 (Special)

—Mounting business activity in the retail stores in Kingston in the past few years has been accompanied by a corresponding rise in payrolls.

The 551 local retail establishments chalked up $52,912,000 in business during the year 1954 as compared with $43,013,000 six years earlier. The increase was 23 per cent.

At the same time their payrolls rose to $5,200,000 from $4,007,000. This represented an increase of 30 per cent. The number of employees was 1,932 in 1954.

These sidelights on local retail operations are brought out in the Government's 1954 Census of Business, just released. It is the first such study made by the Census Bureau since 1948. It covers every state, county and urban place in the country over 2,500.

It reveals that Kingston's 30 per cent payroll rise was greater than that shown throughout the United States generally, where the increase was 28 per cent. In the State of New York there was a 13 per cent improvement.

The census, which has been eagerly awaited by the business community of the country, is expected to contribute answers to many questions.

One of these is: How have central city retail sales been affected by suburban development? Another: Has the expansion of retail outlets been in line with population trends?

The big guns of retail activity locally during the year were stores selling food, eating and drinking places, and automotive equipment establishments.

The food store and eating and drinking group accounted for $15,886,000, a rise from $15,001,000 in 1948. Automotive was $8,820,000 compared with $7,364,000 in 1948.

Similar gains were noted in the various other categories of retail trade locally.

Despite these satisfactory results, warn the economists, consumers will not continue buying at such a rate in the near future unless they are persuaded to do so. A harder selling effort will be needed, it is felt, to induce them to dig into their huge backlog of savings.

Plows Clear Roads, No Utility Damage

Five Inches of Snow Causes Accidents;

Two vehicular accidents in Kingston and Ulster county due to slippery streets and highways had been reported late this morning with approximately five inches of snow on the ground and a steady precipitation continuing.

A couple of tractor-trailers, a police car and a parked truck were involved in a collision about 5:30 a. m. today on the Broadway hill just below Stuyvesant street, one of the tractor-trailers jackknifing and sliding into the home of William McCloskey, 210 Broadway.

A second accident involving a 1949 sedan occurred about 8:10 a. m. on Route 52 about a half mile west of Ellenville. A passenger, Neil Rich, 43, of Monticello, suffered lacerations of the left eye and right wrist, according to Trooper H. H. Ganss of the Ellenville state police.

Trooper Ganss said the car, operated by Soul Evans, 42, also of Monticello, was traveling east when it went into a spin on hard-packed snow, slipped off the north shoulder and down an embankment, turning over twice.

It was reported that a bus had slipped into a ditch in New Salem near Callanan's Road Improvement Co. and that another bus had also skidded into a ditch in the Rosendale-Tillson area but no details were available.

Area utilities reported the situation routine. A spokesman for the New York Telephone Company said there was nothing to report at the moment, that everything was under control. "Just routine," Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. told The Freeman.

The Kingston Board of Public Works said the plows were dispatched to clear city streets about mid-morning. Few complaints were reported—Delaware avenue hill and the Washington avenue viaduct—but that these spots had been cleared.

The Ulster County Highway Department reported "every-

President Is Happy With Mate

Warns on Attempt To Split Leaders

Washington, March 14 (P)—President Eisenhower said today he would be happy to have Vice President Nixon on any political ticket with him.

Eisenhower's statement at a news conference came close to a specific endorsement of Nixon for a second term, but he did not actually say at any point that he favors Nixon as his running mate.

THIS DISTINCTION was in line with the President's previously expressed view that it would not be appropriate to make an outright choice for vice president until the Republican national convention has nominated a presidential candidate next August. He has adhered to this position even though his own renomination is a foregone conclusion.

With much emphasis, Eisenhower said no one should attempt, as he put it, to drive a wedge between Dick Nixon and himself. He said any move to divide him from Nixon would have just about as much chance for success as would an effort to drive a wedge between him and one of his brothers.

Eisenhower said he and Nixon are very close, and he is very happy to have Nixon as his friend and as an associate in the government.

THEN HE ADDED firmly he would be happy to have Nixon on any political ticket on which he himself is a candidate.

At his previous two news conferences, Eisenhower also warmly praised Nixon, but on both occasions declined to say whether he would favor him as his running mate.

A week ago today, the President said he had asked Nixon to "chart out his own course" and tell him what he wants to do regarding his political future.

Eisenhower's remarks today were touched off by a request for comment on the big write-in vote Nixon got yesterday in the New Hampshire preference primary.

ALTHOUGH HIS name did not appear on the ballot, the vice president's name was written. (Continued on Page 26, Col. 3)

Siller in Group Buying Newburgh Business Firm

Louis Siller, of the Siller Beef Co., Hurley avenue, is a member of the syndicate which has purchased the 75-year-old Newburgh manufacturing plant of Sweet Orr and Co., Inc., the sale of which was announced Tuesday in Newburgh.

Other members of the syndicate, which plans the establishment of an industrial center on the Broadway site, include Ernest M. Levinson, Newburgh attorney, Thomas Chadwick, who formerly operated the Newburgh Bleachery on Lake street and Herman Sumars who is associated with Mr. Siller in real estate dealings. Mr. Sumars formerly operated the Newburgh Beef Company.

Negotiations for sale of the plant have been underway for some time, it is understood, and Tuesday's announcement of the sale was made by Edward F. Jackson, a vice president of Sweet Orr, manufacturers of work and play apparel.

The purchasers' plans are tentative at present, Mr. Siller said, although consideration is being given to the establishment of an industrial center.

Mr. Siller said he understood the Sweet Orr plant would remain in Newburgh "for another six months before they can relocate." Mr. Jackson said the company's operation would continue in Newburgh at least until November, 1956.

In his announcement, Mr. Jackson said the firm is reluctant to leave Newburgh after so many years of operation. He said the decision was reached "only after every plan for the modernization of its Broadway plant to conform to present-day manufacturing requirements in the industry was found to be prohibitive and not feasible."

The amount of money involved in the sale was not announced.

Business Gets New Lift With Expansion Planning

New York, March 14 (AP)—Business confidence has caught its second breath. This showed up first in the stock market. Prices of some leading shares have climbed, boosting the averages to new peaks.

Now industrial leaders, who tended a little to the cautious side a month ago, are talking big again about sales hopes for the rest of the year. And they are expanding their earlier notions of how much building to do for the future.

CONSTRUCTION contracts let so far this year are running far ahead of those in the same months a year ago. The actual building will be done some months hence.

F. W. Dodge Corp., building statisticians, report nonresidential building contracts 17 per cent ahead of last year, with public works contracts ahead by 64 per cent and public utility contracts up 84 per cent.

The Dodge economist, Dr. George Cline Smith, stresses the strength of business investment, which shows up in the industrial, commercial and utility figures as indicating "a high degree of confidence that today's record levels of production and sales are not a peak, but merely a step toward higher levels ahead."

THE DODGE REPORTS deal with contracts recently let. But each day seems to bring new announcements of big expansion plans for this year and next, not yet at the contract stage.

The fact that the big industrial companies are raising their sights on expansion has led many firms in the building material fields to launch building programs of their own.

United States Gypsum, National Gypsum, Johns-Manville are among those expanding. The cement industry is building up its capacity. So is the metals industry. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel have recently announced plans to raise their capacity. Reynolds Metals is expanding its aluminum production, that metal now finding wide use in building.

Although monthly steel production continues to set new records, shortages of structural steel plague many builders.

ONE WHO WILL erect a large office-building on a site now being cleared on New York's Fifth avenue has just switched construction plans to reinforced concrete. He explains that he can't get the structural steel he planned to use but he can get the steel rods with which concrete is reinforced.

With the boom in nonresidential building has come slowly rising costs of some building materials. The construction industry is on notice that further price rises are likely. In some regions, also, the demand for building labor has firmed wage scales and by summer some of these scales are due to rise.

THE PLANS FOR future expansion are fairly well distributed throughout industry. In most cases they are based on current production having absorbed all of present capacity for many companies, and on backlogs of orders pointing up the needs of the immediate future.

In other cases expansion programs are keyed to estimates of a growing population's long-term need for goods, materials and services.

In both cases they seem to reflect new confidence that the present flattening out of the business boom is only a phase leading by the end of this year or the start of the next to a new high of business activity.

Steel Supply Will Be Critical in Next 3 Months

New York, March 14 (AP)—The nation's supply of steel will be critical in the next three months.

There's a 50-50 chance of a peaceful labor settlement in the steel industry but steel prices will go up regardless, Iron Age said, "so a good inventory is better than money in the bank."

IT ADDED that there is still some talk of a let-down in demand for steel but the facts are otherwise; some consumers are paying premium prices for plates, about $200 a ton, or around double the prevailing mill base price.

One independent earmaker was reported to be "feverishly" laying up inventory because of fear he may be short of steel when new model production begins.

Meanwhile, consumers of steel are becoming touchy about prices. Can companies protested about "inflation" when a price increase was announced for tin plate. The most came as a shock to these companies.

BUT, IRON AGE SAID, the steel producers are merely protecting themselves against higher labor costs they know are coming; and the can companies are not in a favorable bargaining position in a steel market which suffers recurring periods of shortage.

Steel capacity for oil country goods and line pipe is being strained by booming activity in the oil and gas fields. The amount of steel available for this purpose may be the limiting factor on the number of wells drilled this year.

The pressure on domestic sources of steel for oil industry purposes is undergoing further pressure because of the uncertain Middle East situation which is forcing American oil companies to take a closer look at their position domestically and in South America.

BRICKER REVISION

The much-disputed Constitutional amendment proposal named for its chief advocate, Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio, is up again in modified form. It now reads:

"A provision of a treaty or other international agreement that conflicts with any provision of this Constitution shall not be in force or effect."

Bricker and his supporters believe that international agreements should have the approval of Congress. The original amendment seemed to require for some compacts the consent of all 48 states, which would appear to be a good way of keeping any pact whatever from being made.

In its new form the proposed amendment either means nothing, being merely another way of saying, "The Constitution means what it says," or it could be the basis for much litigation. Conceivably, Bricker has in mind something more than its apparently harmless phraseology.

The senate judiciary committee has approved the revision by an 11 to 2 vote. President Eisenhower, who was strongly against the original, has not yet taken a stand on the revision. So much doubt exists as to what the amendment might involve that it would do no harm to subject it to further discussion before pressing for its passage.

THE PRESIDENT'S AGE

One factor the American people might well try to put in fresh perspective in this presidential campaign is the question of candidates' age. There is some evidence we are taking too narrow a view of the matter.

It might even be said that we have tended to elevate the accident of history into a virtual rule. Because no man of 70 has ever occupied the White House, some people pose that as a top limit.

But Andrew Jackson was just 11 days short of 70 when he finished his second term, and James Buchanan a month and a half short. William Henry Harrison was 68 when elected, and would have been 72 if he had lived out his term. He died only a month after taking office. But the voters had not seen his age as a serious bar.

Harry Truman might have tried for a third term. Had he won it, he too would have been 72 at the completion of service.

The barrier is accidental and wholly artificial. A man's fitness and usefulness should be the only guides.

COLD CURES COMING

A cure for colds will be found within five years according to a prediction of Professor John S. Dingle of the Western Reserve University Medical School made at a meeting of the Common Cold Foundation in New York City.

The common cold has been difficult to vanish because there are so many kinds. At least 13 different viruses are known, plus 60 streptococcal infections which cause coldlike symptoms and about 40 agents which breed diseases similar to pneumonia. Immunity obtained for one kind may not protect against others. This makes it impossible to develop a general vaccination. But it may soon be possible to cure colds shortly after they have been caught.

There remains the question of what people will do for winter conversation when colds are finally eradicated.

A LOOK BACKWARD

History is always interesting—and sometimes it makes sad reading.

Take, for instance, the history of the individual income tax. In 1929, the tax on a $2,000 income was $2—and for a married person with two children and a $10,000 income it was a mere $40.

Now the tax begins at 20 per cent, on the lowest taxable income levels. From there it goes swiftly up the ladder, reaching 91 per cent at the top.

It's no wonder that people still talk, wistfully and nostalgically, of the good old days. Who dares to predict what taxes will be 25 years hence, with government functions being expanded like the proverbial green bay tree?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

PROFESSIONAL CITA

There was something of a controversy in Syracuse, New York, over an address delivered by Chancellor William P. Tolley of Syracuse University before the local Manufacturers Association. The Chancellor ought to be honored that his speech attracted attention and created a fuss because most such speeches pass unnoticed and do not excite as much interest these days as the private measurements of a female salon singer.

What stirred the excitement were some statements on Communism which included these sentences:

"... Without minimizing the danger of the Communist conspiracy, I think it is safe to say the battle for men's minds in America will not be won by the Communist Party. The victory here is clear cut and final."

The Chancellor talked too much and far beyond his knowledge, which sometimes happens to learned men who often believe that having specialized in something, they possess knowledge of everything. This also is a fault of columnists, editorial writers, female lecturers and most politicians. The Chinese used to believe that if a man could write a good essay on the classics, he could do anything, even to building a bridge, and the amazing fact is that some could. So we cannot criticize the Chancellor for being like the rest of us.

However, I might suggest to the Chancellor that he might make a study of textbooks currently used in his and other universities to see how effectively the capitalist concept of life is being undermined and as a substitute for it, socialism in various forms is offered to our young people. I find such textbooks not only in economics and politics but in history, sociology, psychology and in that hodge-podge of subjects called Contemporary Civilization which is a very short cut to culture. It is more effective to influence the young mind through textbooks than by direct political propaganda, particularly in this country where academic freedom is as sacred as an amendment to the Constitution and includes the privilege not only of being untruthful but of marking down students who indicate that they have free minds by differing from the obiter dicta of their instructors some of whom apparently get their knowledge from the Soviet Encyclopedia. This is not a generalization but a suggestion to the Chancellor that he do a research job on the subject.

The real issue is, however, not what Chancellor Tolley said but what he did not say. For if the "victory here is clear cut and final," what is it a victory for? The answer to that I do not see in this speech, although it may be that what I have before me is incomplete. Certainly the opposite of Marxism is not capitalism, and if the victory which is "clear cut and final" is for capitalism, Chancellor Tolley must be mistaken because this country is moving rapidly away from individualistic capitalism toward a very peculiar mixed system in which the government exercises a control over individual earnings not only through the punitive graduated income tax, but by various social controls which leave little to individual judgment and risk.

Furthermore, the anti-trust laws, as interpreted by the Eisenhower Administration, place a control upon private enterprise which leaves few advantages to competence, ability, ingenuity and success. Whereas Keynesianism no longer dominates our Treasury, no other logical system does and therefore only those with inherited wealth can really benefit by their enterprise sufficiently to establish a competence for their progeny and even such persons now find it more advantageous to establish socialized foundations rather than to amass and use the results of their labors.

So, we reach the point where we must again ask the learned Chancellor to tell us what it is that has won the victory "clear cut and final" over Marxism. I would suggest that the Chancellor read the current transcripts issued last week and this week and presumably next week by the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate on the Scope of Soviet Activity in the United States. This series of studies is one of the most interesting and for a scholar, scholarly documents of current American life. He will discover that while many believe that the Communists in the United States have failed, the fact is that Marxism is continuing to be an important influence in our lives, although indirectly it is true. Some of us may still be fighting, but there has been no clear or final victory.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ESTROGENS OR FEMALE HORMONES

The last couple of days we have been discussing hormones, the male sex hormone testosterone in particular. Today we will take a look at the female sex hormone—estrogen. The womanliness of a woman—her bodily contour, hair and fat distribution, breast development, radiant health, and even mental attitudes—is the result of a balanced hormonal structure.

The primary sex hormone factories of women are the ovaries which are paired, oval, walnut-sized organs protected within the abdomen. Important respect they are remarkably different from the comparable male factories. The ovaries produce not only the major hormone but two. It is as if two competing factories were side by side. First one gains the upper hand, then the other overtakes it and passes it in production, only to be overtaken in turn. This hormone roller coaster sends out chemical tides at intervals of a few days, in rhythmic waves that rise and fall and have profound effects on a woman's life.

In an ovary of a woman of childbearing age, an ovum or egg cell begins to mature. The tiny speck of the egg is contained in a membrane enlarged with fluid, like a water blister, and swells through the surface of the ovary. While this growth is taking place, the ovary secretes or manufactures estrogen into the blood stream. In about two weeks, the "blister" ruptures, discharges the egg (ovulation)—about half way between menstrual periods—and a remarkable change occurs in the empty structure which remains. It becomes a temporary endocrine gland producing a different female hormone known as progesterone.

Progesterone is often called the "preparation for pregnancy" hormone. It quiets the uterus, prepares it as a nest to receive the fertilized egg, and continues its protection throughout nearly the entire course of pregnancy. But if conception does not occur, progesterone diminishes and in about two weeks menstruation begins. Estrogen production increases as another egg matures; and this ebb and flow is repeated hundreds of times, from puberty to the menopause.

Progesterone is used with some success in the treatment of pregnant women who have lost their babies in previous miscarriages. In some cases, women who do not make enough progesterone of their own, or perhaps need more than average amounts, are helped. Many miscarriages occur at the critical third month of pregnancy when the placenta begins to produce progesterone. Progesterone treatments at this time may calm an excitable uterus and tide over the danger period. The hormone is a valuable help but certainly not an unfailing preventive of habitual miscarriage. We should keep in mind that many miscarriages are not so tragic as they seem as they represent the loss of a fetus too defective to live.

"Just Wait Until They Get Down Here!"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington —(NEA)— Opening of an "Atomic Law Institute" here may herald the dawn of a new era of "atomic ambulance chasers."

The concept is simple. As atomic energy materials come into wider use, more people who handle them in power plants, hospitals and industry will be subjected to possible injury from overexposure to atomic radiation. The possibility of damage suits being filed against employers for atomic accidents therefore increases.

To protect employers against this possibility, a half-dozen lawyers and a scientist with experience in government agencies handling atomic energy matters have organized this first short course in atomic law.

Head of the Institute is Bigelow Boysen, former U. S. Atomic Energy Commission counsel.

A series of 10 three-day cram courses, with classes limited to 20 students each, is offered as a starter. The students will be staff lawyers for users and transporters of atomic energy materials. There is no case textbook on atomic damage suits and claims settled in or out of court over the past 10 years.

UNDER THE Manhattan District Engineer which made the first A-bombs, two workers lost their lives at Los Alamos, N. Mex. H. K. Daghlain died 24 days after overexposure in an uncontrolled chain reaction Aug. 21, 1945. Louis Slotin died nine days after overexposure in a criticality experiment May 21, 1946. Seven others exposed at the same time recovered.

From the time AEC took over from Manhattan in 1946, there have been no radiation fatalities. Four men burned their hands and another burned a leg during the 1948 Eniwetok tests. They handled contaminated material without the safety equipment provided.

Four persons were overexposed at Argonne National Laboratory, June, 1952. All recovered and returned to work. One claim for damages at Argonne was settled for $2,250.

A guard who drove beyond a safety point during the 1955 Nevada tests showed a dosage of 39 roentgens. Blood analyses showed no radiation symptoms, however.

The "roentgen" is the unit of measurement for radiation exposure. The AEC limit for atomic project employees is 0.3 r. per week, or 3.9 for 13 weeks. The public maximum safe dosage is put at 3.9 r. a year.

FOUR MEN with a data-recovery party at Las Vegas, Nev., were exposed to radiation of 18 r. Jan. 21, 1956. One of them died Feb. 2, but from cerebral thrombosis not radiation.

Through March 1, 1956, damage claims filed against AEC number 638, of which 395 have been settled for $52,227.34.

Two thirds of these were for blast damage to buildings in the 1951 series bomb tests in Nevada. Nine of 16 claims for damage to horses grazing in the area were settled for $6,817.16. Twelve lawsuits have been filed seeking over a million dollars in damages. The one case that has come to trial, seeking $5,000 for damage to a ranch, has been disallowed.

Seven cases seeking $222,000 for damages to sheep are being contested, as the government claims no radiation.

One $450,000 claim for a mine shut-down due to radioactive fallout was settled for $1,000. Another claim was denied.

Two of three other claims for fallout injury, seeking $275,000 damages, were settled for $527 and $389.

THESE FIGURES do not include claims arising from the 1954 super-bomb test in the Pacific. Thirty-one Americans, 23 Marshall Islanders and 23 Japanese fishermen were exposed to fallout radioactivity from that blast.

Only one of the victims died—a Jap fisherman—and the cause was determined to be hepatitis, not radiation. All the others sustained burns and some loss of hair, but recovered.

In January, 1955, however, the U. S. government paid Japan two million dollars in a good-will settlement.

This is a condensed record of atomic damage cases up to now.

Some Democrats Feel HST Is Man With Most Appeal

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 14 — There's a surprising amount of talk among the professional politicians on the Democratic side about the possibility of drafting Harry Truman to run again for the presidency.

Part of it is due to a dissatisfaction with the most-often mentioned candidates—Messrs. Stevenson, Kefauver and Harriman. Part of it is based on the theory that no other candidate would have the solid backing that Mr. Truman would get from labor-union and radical organizations as well as the big city political organizations.

It so happens that Mr. Truman will be traveling abroad during most of the time when the pre-convention campaign will be in full swing and will avoid participation therein. Europeans admire Harry Truman. Under his regime the biggest amount of money ever given away by any country to any other country was sent abroad out of the U. S. treasury, and much of it was in the form of grants—not loans.

BUT THERE is another reason for European admiration. The Democratic party itself is much more highly regarded in London and Paris than the Republican party. Even though General Eisenhower led the rescue of France from Hitler's military power and saved Britain from a similar fate, most newspapers abroad wanted Adlai Stevenson to win in 1952. To this day, while they like Eisenhower in Europe, it is only because they think the New York city clique which is influential in the Republican party will keep the so-called "right wing" in that party from getting on top.

Actually, if the Democratic party's personnel is examined carefully in this regard, it will be found that men like Senators George of Georgia and Lyndon Johnson of Texas are not a bit different from many Republicans in feeling that America has gone too far in appropriating billions for foreign aid and that the time has come to take a careful look at the "give-away" programs, especially as they relate to Asia.

BUT THE SELECTION of Mr. Truman to head the Democratic party one more would not be altogether because of the preponderant influence which internationalists exercised during his administration. It is related primarily to the Truman kind of campaigning, which some professionals on the Democratic side believe would be most effective this year.

What is desired, according to the Tumanites, is a "give 'em hell" campaign, which means recklessness of statement and impugning of motives. It's the pattern of so-called "McCarthyism," but nobody in Congress ever arises to "condemn" it. It is felt that neither Mr. Stevenson nor Mr. Kefauver fill the requirements of vigorous campaigning.

Mr. Truman is cocky about his political prowess and is convinced that he could have won in 1952—and he implies he could win in 1956. That's what he tells his intimate friends. This attitude is due in some respects to the well-known habit among politicians of exuding confidence so as to conceal altogether any signs of weakness in a campaign year. But some of it is actually believed by Mr. Truman, whose recently published memoirs show that he doesn't think much of the candidates now being put forward by the Democrats. He has already brushed off Mr. Stevenson in some of his comments, and he hasn't quite forgiven Mr. Kefauver for once beating him in the New Hampshire primary election. The few remarks favorable to Governor Harriman that have come from Mr. Truman are not indicative of any great enthusiasm for the New Yorker and stem largely from forgotten contributions made by Mr. Harriman to the Truman cause when the party treasury was empty.

SO IT ALL comes down to the same old query—who else but Mr. Truman? He is, of course, eligible to run for another term, since the constitutional amendment which limits a President to two terms exempts specifically the President who was in office when the amendment was being processed for adoption in 1951.

In many respects, Harry Truman is the logical nominee of his party. He still stands on both the Fair Deal and the New Deal and is proud of his record in international affairs, including intervention in Korea and his dismissal of General MacArthur.

Mr. Truman will be 72 years old on May 8 next, but Chancellor Adenauer is 80 and still in power, and Churchill was past 80 when he retired. So the former President is being looked over by the politicians on the theory that, on the personal side, Truman's age will be no more of a barrier than Ike's heart attack and that the chief concern of the Democratic national convention should be basic issues and the choice of the best man to interpret them to the people.

One thing is fairly certain already—if Harry Truman doesn't desire the nomination himself, he will have more to say about who the nominee shall be than any other single personality among the party's bosses. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Q—How much of South America would lie east of a line drawn straight south from New York city?

A—Ninety-five per cent.

Q—Who was the first official to preside over both houses of Congress and under which president did he serve as vice president?

A—Schuyler Colfax of Indiana, vice president under U. S. Grant, had been speaker of the House of Representatives from 1863 to 1869.

ribbed it from the Democratic Party just in time for a presidential election. Vice President Nixon recently referred to the fact that the decision was written by Earl Warren, a Republican chief justice. This aroused a splutter of indignation among a few stand-pat idealists who cherish an illusion that the court should be non-political. Nixon's excuse was that a misplaced comma in his remarks had permitted his enemies to impute to him something which he did not intend to say. That is a trifle, however, and the fact that Warren is no Republican but a composite or mugwump makes no difference, either.

The fact remains that the Republican Party gets the credit and will get the Negro vote for that reason notwithstanding all the groveling of the Roosevelt and Truman machines over 20 years.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Republican party has stolen credit for Harry Truman's campaign to establish by federal law certain "civil rights" for Negroes. Franklin Roosevelt's courtship of the Negro vote in the north was too devious and vast for condensation here. The fact that he was absolutely cynical and hypocritical is acknowledged by all practical Negro politicians who do not try to convince themselves that he had any humane regard for the colored population. He and his wife refused to mix white servants with Negroes in their many homes, including the White House, and she wrote in two of her books. He also included a standard southern exclusion clause in the deeds to plots in his subdivision at Warm Springs and this, also, is too easily provable to permit of dispute.

Truman had no comparable record of personal conduct but he came of a "southern" family in Missouri where there was not only every chance for the individual to choose his side but no chance to avoid doing so. In the days after the Civil War many Missourians were killed in feuds over the status of the Negro.

However, Truman as President did establish a political body called the President's Committee on Civil Rights, with Charles E. Wilson, formerly president of General Electric, as chairman. Wilson had performed many trying services in procurement for the government during Roosevelt's war and when Truman called on him to lend his prestige and give a little more of his time to this new "project" he willingly responded. After the committee had served Truman's political purpose and written a "report" advocating Truman's political temptations of the Negro voter, Wilson revealed that the membership of the committee had been picked by David K. Niles, the Boston conniver who sat in the White House throughout the long regime. The late Walter White then executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, insisted the committee and that he picked the personnel. White was a professional bureaucrat who had a strain of Negro blood.

The controlling job on the committee was that of executive secretary, and this fell to Robert Carr, of Dartmouth College, whose reactions could be foretold by past performances. And Carr picked for the committee's secretary and director of "research" Mrs. James Wechsler, the wife of the editor of the New York Post who has achieved renown by his strident denials that he ever was a Communist. He was, to be sure, a member of the Young Communist League when he was in college and Mrs. Wechsler, known rather widely in her own right as Nancy, said she, too, was a member of this league. However, both make the point that the league and the Communist Party were separate organizations and insist that they did not join the party.

Carr had an amusing explanation of his choice of Mrs. Wechsler for a job in which she could wield strong influence. He said he hired her because she asked for the job. To determine her qualifications, he consulted some of her friends.

Wilson said the committee did not hold many meetings. Actually, it was a political dummy organized to put into words a political program by which Truman confidently hoped to rope the Negro vote, which is actually the balance of power in the city and state of New York and conceivably in the nation. Its program was fed to it by the NAACP in New York, which for a long time has enjoyed a false prestige as the political agent of the entire Negro population. Actually, it has few members, although now the commotion over the segregation issue in the South may stimulate hitherto apathetic Negroes to join. The real operators of the NAACP from its beginning have been northern white men. About the time the Civil Rights Committee published its report, many reputable Negroes in New York plainly challenged its right to speak for the Negroes.

In the face of all this, in Eisenhower's Administration the Supreme Court brought in its decision ordering in effect that segregation in southern public schools be dropped. To support its position, the court took counsel of a number of opponents of segregation who did not appear anywhere in the legal proceedings and may not even have known that they were so honored. They included one alien, a Swede who had done a hit-and-run "survey" in the United States, and one American who has a record of association with Communist political projects. The abolition of segregation is one of those projects. Truman and Roosevelt indorsed it and now the Republican Party has

FOR 1,843 YEARS

Trajan's Column in Rome, 130 feet high, consists of 34 blocks of marble dovetailed into one another without the use of cement and has endured since 113 A.D. 800 years ago the Roman Senate decreed death and confiscation of property for whosoever injured the column. It was originally surmounted by a statue of the emperor Trajan. The imperial ashes were deposited within a golden ball held in the statue's hand.

Clerk Takes Place, Egans Take $32,000

New York, March 14 (AP)—The Egan brothers from Hartford, Conn., have taken their winnings and called it quits, and a store clerk from the South has replaced them at the $32,000 level in television quizdom.

Robert Edward Bennett, 48, of Kingsland, Ga., answered the $32,000 question in his chosen Abraham Lincoln category last night on the CBS show, "The $64,000 Question."

Bennett will be back on the program next Tuesday night to announce whether he will try for the grand prize.

The Egan brothers—James L. Egan, 40, and William E. Egan, 43—said they planned to pay all their bills out of their $32,000, won by answering questions in any and all categories in previous appearances on the program.

They would have faced a question on popular music last night.

William said James made the decision to quit. William is an inheritance tax attorney for the Connecticut State Tax Department. James is prosecutor for the city of Hartford.

No immediate estimate of the income tax bite on their winnings was available—largely because of their other income involved.

District Agricultural Demonstration Day in Nyack on April 20 are James Freese, Herbert Hohmann and David Mollenhauer, all of Tillson.

Judges were Miss Rhoda Peck, assistant 4-H club agent of Columbia county; Miss Dorothy Rhoades, home economics representative, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; Miss Jeannette Stein, homemaking teacher, Ontario Central School; Mrs. E. N. Johnson, homemaking, Kingston; Mrs. Robert Shellenberger, homemaking, Kingston and Charles Kolodziejki, Hurley.

A general assembly was held at Kingston High School auditorium with David Mollenhauer reciting the American Flag Salute and Mary Swezy the 4-H Flag Salute. A special program was presented by the Rifton 4-H Club Drum Corps under the direction of Miss Anna Devine. Slides of 4-H Club activities in the county were shown.

Vote Pleases Adlai

Chicago, March 14 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today he is "surprised and pleased" by the vote he received in the New Hampshire primary election. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who is competing against Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, swept all his party's delegate places at stake in the nation's first primary. Stevenson issued this statement: "I am surprised and pleased by the large vote cast for me in New Hampshire. I had requested not to be entered as a candidate and have not had an opportunity to visit New Hampshire for many years. In spite of this, more than a third of the New Hampshire Democrats voted for me yesterday. I am most grateful for this encouragement."

Memorial

In loving memory of my beloved mother, Mrs. Ruth E. Singleton (Riddick) who passed away one year ago today, March 14, 1955.

When a mother breathes her last farewell,
The blow is more than tongue can tell.

Earth seems quite another place,
Without the smile of a mother's face.

Sleep on dear mother and take your rest,
For God called when he thought best.

Our loss means pain, but yours means gain,
In heaven we hope to meet you once again.

Officials Can

York National Bank, town depository for funds, had informed him that he would recommend to the bank that checks issued by the deputy supervisor be honored.

"What we want to see is payrolls met and bills paid pending determination as to whether Eckert or Ellsworth is supervisor," Schick said today.

DISMISSAL of the petition of Ellsworth to compel Eckert to turn over the town records has not determined who is legally supervisor of the town and Justice Deekleman said in his memorandum that this matter could not be determined under the proceeding before him.

A meeting of the town board is scheduled for this evening but it is unlikely that the dispute will enter into the meeting, should the suggestion of Schick be accepted and steps be taken to have a deputy supervisor named to act pending legal determination of the question as to whether Eckert, elected at the November election last fall, or Ellsworth, appointed by the town board, shall serve.

Briefs were submitted and argument held Monday before Justice Deekleman atudson. John S. Schick appeared for petitioner, Ellsworth, and N. LeVan Haver with John E. Egan of counsel, appears for Eckert.

Area Roads . . .

trial expansion taking place it stressed with every indication that it will continue at an accelerated rate.

The opening of the thruway has completely changed the area traffic pattern, it was pointed out.

Approaches to the city of Kingston from Route 28, the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and Route 209 are inadequate and hazardous at the present time and would be a serious handicap in case of local or national emergencies, similar to the floods of August and October in 1955, the resolution said.

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce strongly recommends and urges by its resolution that all of the various governmental bodies and official agencies involved give prompt consideration to and take any actions necessary to bring about completion of the following area highway and bridge improvements as promptly as possible.

1. That portion of the original Arterial Route plan presented to the Common Council of the city of Kingston by the State Department of Public Works in January of 1954 which would connect Broadway with Route 28 in the vicinity of Gate 19 of the New York State Thruway and provide a connection with Fair street extension.

2. Inclusion of the Washington avenue viaduct area in the proposed Arterial Route plan and provide for a new, much wider bridge across the Esopus creek at this point and the removal of the viaduct.

3. Prompt completion of the highway connecting link between the westerly approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and Route 9-W and consideration of the necessity for extending this highway link directly to Route 28 in the vicinity of Gate 19 on the New York State Thruway.

4. Reconstruction of Route 28 between Boiceville and Margaretville.

5. Designation of Route 209 from Port Jervis to Kingston as a major federal highway and consider complete reconstruction thereof to provide a major artery of travel from the State of Pennsylvania to all of New England. This should also include a direct connection between Route 209 and a traffic interchange on Route 28 in the vicinity of Gate 19 on the thruway; and

Be it further resolved that all of the various officials and agencies involved be contacted and urged to plan and execute this needed highway program and take whatever other steps are necessary to bring about its completion.

Farm Prosperity

Gloucester, Va. (AP) — Billy Weaver, 10, wanted a clubhouse, as do most boys. The folks let him build one from scraps and salvage. That was five years ago. Billy converted it into a brooder. He now produces 75,000 baby chicks a year, in addition to many eggs. He won a place on the Virginia 4-H poultry judging team. He raises the family garden, his cow furnished the family with milk, and he also is raising the pork. He has also planted 1,000 trees and has learned to estimate accurately the number of board feet in one tree or an acre of forest.

"Keeping Billy on the farm is no problem at all," says his father, William Weaver.

LEARNING HEALTH AND SAFETY—A girl scout's duty is to be useful and to help others and that is why health and safety is an important phase of scout work. Looking on are (l-r) Diane Lowe, Harriet Chipman, Loretta Melbert, Jeanne McElrath and Nancy Van Wezemael. State Aid . . .

level. That would cost $800,000 more.

THE REPUBLICAN changes would:

1. Raise the foundation program of aid from $320 to $330 a pupil, at an additional cost of $21,000,000.

2. Continue aid for school-bus transportation at current levels, instead of modifying it as proposed by the commission. This would raise the cost by $1,200,000.

3. Modify commission proposals affecting districts that send their pupils to schools in another district, so as to give both types of district opportunity to adjust their shares of aid—$3,700,000 in added cost.

4. Continue the present system of emergency aid for school-building construction in rapidly growing districts, at an added cost of $1,400,000.

THE AGREEMENT paved the way for prompt action by the lawmakers and formal approval by the governor. Amendments embodying the GOP changes were offered in the Legislature yesterday.

The largest increase granted was in 1948, when school aid was raised by about 40 million dollars. An official of the Heald Commission said the impending boost would be "far and away" the greatest ever accorded by any state in the nation.

The state's fiscal year begins on April 1. Because the state and school fiscal years do not coincide, only about $97,300,000 of the $121,400,000 will have to be provided in Harriman's budget.

IT BREAKS DOWN this way:

1. $30,000,000 of the $31,800,000 in formula-mandated boosts.

2. $22,100,000 of the $57,500,000 boost proposed by the Heald Commission.

3. $15,200,000 of the $32,100,000 tacked on by Harriman and the GOP.

The last two items total $37,300,000.

The governor tucked away an extra $31,600,000 in his budget in anticipation of Heald Commission recommendations. In addition, GOP experts say $2,300,000 in other appropriations for education would overlap with the commission program. Thus a total of $33,900,000 is available to cover the Heald program and the Harriman-GOP increases.

It means the governor and the Legislature will have to dig up another $3,400,000 to cover the program.

End of Violence Sought

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The United States prodded both Greeks and Britons today to put aside violence and force in their bitter dispute over Cyprus and return to the negotiating table. At the same time, the State Department sought to impress on Britain particularly that this country is not taking sides in the angry controversy; that it seeks only "a fair and just solution" agreeable to Britain, Greece, Turkey and the people of Cyprus.

12th Ward Group Opposes Further Area Development

Development of Hope street, Ring Top Road, Wilkie avenue and Pearl street, was approved by the planning board after hearing last night.

Francis Oulton, of 45 Janet street, and Thomas A. McNeilis, of 209 Main street, as spokesmen for the 12th Ward Citizens Committee, objected to further developments in the area, until sewer and drainage problems are solved, but proponents of the development argued that controlled drainage could be no worse than open drainage.

The 12th ward group has been petitioning the city for action to relieve residents of the ward from damage due to overflowing brooks and backed up sewers during heavy rains, and the plan is now under study.

Speaking in behalf of the development, on which preliminary work has been done, were Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer H. Englander, 628 Broadway; Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Fletcher, of 40 West Chester street; Jay Melton, of 43 Lounsbury place, and Mrs. Clarence Perry, of 3 Grand View avenue.

Home Bank Rescue

Medford, Mass. (AP)—Albert Goodrich, 86, showed much more concern for his burning mattress than for his own safety when police rescued him from his blazing apartment over his screaming protests. When he got to the hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation, police learned the reason for his protests. He had $100 hidden in the mattress. They returned to the scene of the fire and found the mattress, which had been thrown into the yard, with the $100 intact.

Bus Fares Cut To Coax Riders

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—A bus company in western New York is reducing fares to encourage greater patronage, the Public Service Commission reported today.

Most applications to the PSC from bus companies, pressed by rising costs, are for rate increases.

The commission said it had accepted a tariff amendment from the Rochester-Penfield Bus Co. Inc., to reduce fares on trips in the area between Mount Morris or Lakeville on the north and Elmira on the south. The present one-way fares are 33 cents or more. The change becomes effective March 19.

The fare reduction is to be accomplished through the sale of one-way tickets good within three days of the date of purchase. Such tickets will be sold at 70 per cent of the regular fare but at not less than 30 cents. The regular full price one-way tickets are good for 60 days.

Court Adjourns Again

An adjournment session of the February term of county court was further adjourned Monday until next Monday at 2 p. m. at which time sentence in a criminal case will be taken up by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn.

Package Store Relocations Give Trouble to SLA

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—The State Liquor Authority says it has run into "vexatious" problems in handling the relocation of package liquor stores. A moratorium was declared by the agency on relocations in 1948.

The SLA, in its annual report to Gov. Harriman and the Legislature yesterday, said that some low-priced package stores had been acquired and then moved to high-volume locations where their value increased. On the other hand, the SLA said, some owners were forced to move by property condemnation.

RELOCATIONS would not be approved, the authority said, unless it were proved that public convenience and necessity would be served.

The authority also said it would continue to deny applications for package stores in shopping centers, holding that the Legislature intended that the stores serve particular neighborhoods.

The annual report said the SLA might seek legislative authority to limit restaurant and tavern liquor licenses on a locality basis, rather than by county.

A SURVEY of licensed restaurants in New York city indicated the need for emphasis on neighborhood considerations in appraising applications for new licenses or the removal of existing licenses, the agency said. A survey of the rest of the state appeared desirable to gain a statewide evaluation of the problem, the SLA said.

Over 90 Observe 4-H Club Week at Supper

Tillson, March 14 — Approximately 90 4-H Club members and parents attended a spaghetti supper at Tillson School Thursday evening. The supper was given by the 4-H Club in appreciation of the interest and support given by the parents. It was also held in conjunction with National 4-H Club Week.

Edward Bauer, county 4-H Club agent was present and gave a brief talk. Nathaniel Phillips, local leader also spoke. It was pointed out that a county 4-H Club camp may soon be a reality, within only a few miles from Tillson.

A special award was presented David Mollenhauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mollenhauer for his work accomplished in raising Brown Swiss cattle.

Following the dinner, entertainment in the form of games was enjoyed by both adults and children.

PSC Accepts Tariff Rates From Truckers

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—A tariff amendment filed by the New York Motor Carrier Conference to revise interstate trucking rates for almost all of its 600 members has been accepted by the Public Service Commission.

The PSC said yesterday the new tariff, which goes into effect March 19, provided for reductions in rates charged for joint line shipments—those carried by two or more over-the-road truckers.

Rates on canned goods or iron or steel articles stay the same. Rate increases for most other commodities range up to 10 per cent, the commission said.

The conference said the additional revenue was needed to offset higher operating costs, including recent wage boosts to employees.

Water Hauling Problem

Galesburg, Ill. (AP) — County Farm Adviser A. R. Kemp reports the winter water shortage is the worst Knox county has known. Farmers are building ponds and sinking wells to overcome the inconvenience of water-hauling from town. But many depend on city water since their shallow wells are dry. A farmer can tank up on water for 50 cents a 500-gallon load at Knoxville and $1 a load at Wataga. Williamsfield meters its water to farmers. At Kewanee, farmers get a free fill at a hydrant near the police station.

Reds Increase Czech Attacks Against Religion

Vienna, Austria, March 14 (AP)—The Communist rulers of Czechoslovakia have stepped up their attacks against religion, according to Czech newspapers and the reports of refugees reaching Vienna. The prime target is the Roman Catholic Church.

The latest drive concentrates on pressuring members of the Czech armed forces who still belong to churches to drop their membership and quit attending services.

AT THE SAME time the government and press are intensifying campaigns against juvenile delinquency—including teen-age drunkenness and prostitution. But they are not asking the churches to help.

Denouncing religion and church attendance, the Czechoslovak youth paper Mlada Fronta declared that "religion soon will be legally ended as something that is superfluous and detrimental to our thinking."

The Ostrava newspaper Nova Svoboda said "atheistic propaganda must be carried out consistently and systematically on the largest possible scale." It called on all teachers, cultural and political workers to join the drive to explain the "harmful character" of religion.

RECENT REFUGEES interviewed by westerners say Catholic soldiers are commanded to attend lectures attacking their church and to pledge to drop their membership.

At the same time there are renewed reports of secret arrests of more priests in Czechoslovakia. Many are reported sent to labor camps.

The growing problem of juvenile delinquency is attacked by numerous Czechoslovakia papers, including the Communist party organ Rude Pravo and the trade unions paper Prace.

"It is a sad and tragic picture," said Prace, relating conditions in Prague, the capital.

PRAGUE POLICE are waging a stiff campaign against prostitution and venereal disease. Prace adds, and prostitutes are punished with fines.

"But what is a fine to prostitutes? They laugh about it," complains Prace. "And what is being done about youth from the provinces who wander about Prague? When asked what they want in the capital, they refuse to answer. They subsist on the leavings in snack bars and they sleep in the railway stations."

Scorpion Showers

Tempe, Ariz. (AP)—The farmers weren't the only ones who were happy to see it rain this winter. The showers were welcomed by Dr. Herbert L. Stahnke, who produces anti-scorpion serum in his laboratory at Arizona State College here. Dr. Stahnke said that when it rains the scorpions come out of the ground, and it's easier to catch them and extract their venom.

County Receives $27,202 Share Of Vehicle Tax

Albany, March 14—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced the distribution of $2,393,692.50 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the 57 counties outside the city of New York.

Ulster county's share is $27,202.19.

The total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending December 31, 1955, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

THE LAW provides that 25 percent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of a county outside New York city be returned to local government.

The money is deposited in county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers.

WHY CLOSE THE TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL?

The Ulster County Medical Society has no desire to enter into a controversy with the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. The Society remains firm in its opposition to the closing of the Tuberculosis Hospital for the following reasons:

The hospital and its facilities are needed at the present time. The Tuberculosis Hospital operated at 92.4% of capacity during 1955. Furthermore, the County is undergoing considerable population increase. Therefore the present need cannot be denied. When the rate of occupancy decreases the Society will then reconsider its position.

Results of treatment at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital are as good or better than those reported from the state hospitals. Latest available statistics, those for 1954, show that the rate of cases classified as arrested or inactive in our hospital was 63%. This compares favorably with any state hospital.

Out-patient clinics at present are adequate and are directed toward the needs of our citizens. For the past three years, our people have had the benefit of 150 out-patient clinics per year, many being held at night for the benefit of working people. In a letter received by the Board of Supervisors after our committee submitted its report, the State Health Department promises two or more clinics a week will be held here. Actual figures from the Homer Folks Hospital District report, copies of which were given to the Supervisors, revealed that in the twelve counties now comprising this Hospital District a total of 136 clinics were held last year. This averages less than one clinic per county per month. If Ulster County is to receive preferential treatment, it must come only as an added burden to the taxpayers of our County.

On the record of past and present performance our tuberculosis detection and control program in Ulster County is far superior to that in ANY of the twelve counties now comprising the district which the State Health Department desires us to join. The closing of our hospital, in our opinion, would represent a step backward rather than a step forward for Ulster County.

Boy Scout Groups Finance Campaign Plans Discussed

Gerald Overbaugh, chairman of the finance committee of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America has announced that plans are well under way for the annual campaign for operating funds in the Ulster and Greene counties. His committee met last month and prepared a tentative budget which was presented to the executive board of the council at its regular meeting for approval. This budget totals $31,550 to cover operations of the council for the 10-month period of May 1, 1956 to February 28, 1957 and also includes one-third of the 1958 budget. By January 1958 the council will be on a calendar year basis and by raising one-third of the budget in each of three years, there will not be the necessity of having two campaigns in one year. Anticipated income from the Kingston Area Community Chest will total $7,224 in the 10-month period which means a total of $24,326 to be raised outside the area covered by the Kingston Area Community Chest.

THE BUDGET covers such items as executive salaries, three trained men to supervise and promote the Scouting program in the two county area; secretary salaries; two secretaries to keep the records of 2,600 boys and 1,100 adult scouts; to give service to the 107 Packs, Troops, and Explorer Posts of the Council; rent for the council office which is the service center of Scouting; telephone; insurance costs; office supplies; replacement of office equipment; postage; social security and retirement fund. Also included is an item for training and conferences to make sure the leaders receive periodic training to make their job easier and more effective.

An item of camp operation is primarily for the short-term, year-round camping program promoted and conducted at the council camp Tri-Mount near East Jewett. Certificates of all rank advancements are presented to those boys who earn them and the top honors in all advancement programs are presented without charge to the boys earning them. The costs of the various activities, council and district camporees, rallies, court of recognition, exhibits, etc. are carried through the council budget.

The following men have accepted the responsibility of serving as district campaign directors: Kingston District for outside the area covered by Kingston Area Community Chest, Donald E. White, Sr.; Saugerties District, John Wood, Sr.; Northern District, Robert Crosby of Greenville; Mountain District, Newton Ford of Windham and Clarence Jansen of Tannersville; Western District, Harry Allen of Pine Hill; Southern District, William E. Haviland of Highland. Each district campaign director is to have recruited a community chairman for each community by March 22.

THE ENTIRE man (and woman) power for door-to-door solicitations must be ready by April 15. The campaign will be conducted from May 1 to May 21.

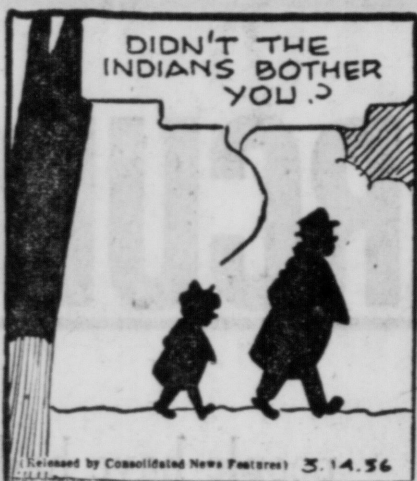

The annual council dinner meeting to be held Tuesday, May 22 at George Washington School in Kingston will be the final report date at which time the district campaign trophy will be awarded to the district which has the highest percent toward their goal in number of contributions.

In reviewing the council status, Scout Executive George V. Dennis said that in view of the 100 per cent growth of the council in the past four years and the contemplated growth in the next three year period, nothing but success should be the goal for the financial picture this year. He pointed out that as the number of boys and number of units grows, it means more activities, more advancement, more camping facilities and better programs in camp, more training to keep the leaders abreast of new developments and procedures and most of all, more adults in the program to give the necessary supervision to the institutions using the Scouting program. It was pointed out that at the present time there are 16 new units in the process of organization throughout the council area—Ulster and Greene counties.

Boy Scout Troop 5
The fathers of the Scouts of B'nai B'rith sponsored Troop 5, Rip Van Winkle Council were treated to a supper Sunday evening at Jewish Community Center.

The "dad's delicacy" was steak sandwiches prepared by the boys, which demonstrated their proficiency at preparing food indoors, as well as over an open camp fire.

The formal program of the supper was presided over by John Levy, retiring troop committee chairman, who welcomed the fathers.

George Dennis, scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council, spoke to the fathers of the formation of a new troop committee, its functions and responsibilities.

As the troop is preparing for its annual re-registration this month, the dads were asked to serve on the committee and share more of the father-son aspects of Scouting.

Volunteering for the five committee positions were William Zang, chairman; George Jacobson, vice-chairman; Joe Krosner, finance man; Harold Waterman, advance man; and Ben Marcus, activities and camping man.

Dr. Sigmund Rudisch represented the B'nai B'rith at the supper.

Boys hosting their fathers were Norman Arlensky, Robert Black, Walter Donnaruma, Stephen Eckdich, Richard Fettel, Paul Jacobson, Edward Kessler, Louis Klein, Lewis Krasner, Ronald Lifshin, Richard Marcus, Steven Millens, Michael Toffel, William Van Derzee Jr., Leroy Waterman, Richard Whiston and Kerry Zang.

A new troop neckerchief, a brilliant red plaid, was distributed to the boys. The neckerchief made up for the troop by Joe Kessler, a traditional yellow and blue one worn in the past.

New York, March 14 (AP)—A former Finnish ammunition inspector who says he turned over secrets on Russian and Finnish ordnance to the United States, has won a reprieve from deportation. Klaus Romppanen, 43, had been scheduled for deportation today aboard the liner Stockholm. He said he would face prosecution and possible execution for treason if returned to Finland. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, immigration commissioner, stayed the deportation yesterday at the request of Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.). Swing said he would review the case and report to the Senate internal security subcommittee, which Eastland heads.

School Institute Meeting Set at Vassar March 22

"Where does policy making end and where does Administration begin?" will be the topic of discussion for the third in a series of Mid-Hudson School Board Institute meetings to be held at Vassar College at Poughkeepsie, March 22. The dinner in the Main Building will begin at 6:45 p. m. and the program is scheduled for 8:15 p. m. in Ely Hall.

Mr. Roscoe Williams, supervising principal at Red Hook Central School, will be moderator for the program, and William Landauer, school board member from Red Hook, is general chairman of the institute planning board.

THREE SPEAKERS will discuss the topic and will conduct a panel discussion.

Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College, will consider the school board's policy making and administrative problems from the standpoint of a college president. Raymond Collins, superintendent of schools at Manhasset, will discuss the topic from the point of view of a school superintendent, and Roy Ketcham, president of the board of education, Wappingers Falls, will present a discussion of the topic as seen by a board member.

Composed of 45 school boards in the Mid-Hudson area, these school board institutes are being sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council in cooperation with the New York State School Boards Association, State University Teachers College at New Paltz and Vassar College at Poughkeepsie.

THE FINAL institute in the series, to be held at Vassar College, April 25, will deal with the fiscal responsibilities of boards of education.

The first two meetings of the series were held at the State University Teachers College at New Paltz.

Kefauver Man Says Democrats Should Take Note

Washington, March 14 (AP)—F. Joseph Donohue, Sen. Kefauver's campaign manager, said early today that he thinks "the Result of the New Hampshire primary will cause the leaders of the Democratic party to reassess their thinking" about who should receive the party's nomination for president.

In a statement issued by Kefauver's headquarters here, Donohue said:

"We are pleased and gratified by the truly magnificent support given Sen. Kefauver by his many friends in New Hampshire.

"The Democratic voters of that independent state have conclusively demonstrated that they want to return the administration of the affairs of this country to the dynamic, progressive and genuinely liberal policies for which Sen. Kefauver stands.

cause the leaders of the Democratic party to reassess their thinking in connection with the selection of the man who will be named to carry the party to victory at the polls next November."

Cue Bid Gives Slam Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"The rebid of four clubs is a cue bid," comments Ernie Rovere in his splendid new book, Point Count Contract Bridge Complete, from which today's hand is taken. "It is intended as a slam try, and to show control of that suit."
"North's raise to five clubs similarly encourages the slam fever by showing the club fit, in addition to the spade support already demonstrated.
South doesn't consider bidding a grand slam, because he knows that the ace of hearts is missing. If North had the ace of hearts, he would bid four hearts instead of five clubs. He would be in position to show the club strength later, but would want to show an ace first.

"The play of this hand is a bit advanced," Rovere continues, in his comments on the hand. He then gives a trick-by-trick summary of the play.

South begins by cashing both top diamonds. He next takes the ace of clubs and continues with dummy's high clubs, discarding the low diamond from his own hand.

Declarer is now in position to ruff one of dummy's low diamonds. This play sets up the dummy. Naturally, South ruffs with a high trump to make sure that West is unable to overruff.

South can now draw trumps with the ace, the king, and finally dummy's queen. This draws all of the enemy's trumps and leaves declarer in the dummy so that he can discard two hearts on dummy's established diamonds. The slam contract is thus assured.

Predicts Eisenhower Will Carry Tennessee by 50,000

(Editor's Note: This is one in a series of stories by the AP's national political reporters who are surveying the situation across the country in the light of President Eisenhower's decision to seek a second term.)

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Nashville, Tenn., March 14 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower carried Tennessee over Adlai Stevenson in 1952 by the slim margin of 2,437 votes out of 892,000.

Gov. Frank Clement says he couldn't have done this except for "a promise three days before the election that he would preserve and protect the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and operate it more efficiently."

"HE HAS NOT KEPT that promise," Clement said in an interview. Clement says he and other Democratic speakers will make this prime issue of the campaign and expect to defeat Eisenhower in the state next November.

But Guy L. Smith of Knoxville, the Republican state chairman said Eisenhower's popularity in Tennessee has grown steadily and he looks for a 50,000-vote margin for him this year.

Smith scoffed at the suggestion that the Democrats can beat Eisenhower in Tennessee on the TVA issue.

"The average Tennessean has sense enough to see that nothing has been done to injure TVA," Smith continued. "President Eisenhower has shown every disposition to protect and preserve it."

The extent to which voters react on that issue could be a major factor in how Tennessee goes this year.

MOST OF THE political reporters who cover the state from the capital city say the Democrats will have the advantage this year.

The electricity furnished by TVA lights the homes, runs the factories and does many of the farm chores all over the state. The rates are low and few would have them go up. Many think any change in TVA's operations might have that effect.

Gov. Clement, the state's Democratic senators, Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore, and other officials fought bitterly when the Eisenhower administration signed the Dixon-Yates contract. Since cancelled, the contract would have had private industry build a steam plant in West Memphis, Ark., to supply TVA with power replacing electricity furnished an Atomic Energy Commission project.

"TENNESSEE BELIEVES in public power and what it can do for the people," Clement said. "And the people who fear what the administration will do on the public power front in the years ahead are well organized."

GOP Chairman Smith said the Dixon-Yates contract issue "has been settled." He said he is convinced that "thousands more Democrats will join the Eisenhower swing in November because they approve the way he has conducted his administration."

"We will get a bigger percentage of the younger votes than ever before," he said, "and we have an even stronger hold on the women than before. They like the President and they are convinced he is their best hope for keeping the country at peace."

THERE IS TENSION in Tennessee over the race issue, but you notice it less in east and middle Tennessee than you do down in the southeast around Memphis.

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans have any desire to make school integration a campaign issue lest it disturb the comparative calm in many of the counties.

Most observers doubt that it could develop into a substantial third party move in the state unless some incident should explode.

Clement concedes "there is a hard core of popular strength for the President in the state," but he said Republicans had built up hopes for another Eisenhower victory in Tennessee on a split among the Democrats. Clement contends that won't materialize.

WHILE KEFAUVER has been running for president, Clement frequently has been mentioned in speculation over the vice presidential spot. Clement enjoys the warm friendship of Adlai Stevenson, with whom Kefauver is contesting for the presidential nomination.

But Clement rejected suggestions that he seek to go to the national convention with a "favorite son" endorsement for the presidency.

He called instead for a delegation "unbound, unpledged and unpressured," and said he thought Kefauver should be allowed to pursue his campaign in other states "unshackled and unembarrassed."

ALTHOUGH Kefauver won his last renomination to the Senate in 1954 by a margin of nearly a quarter of a million votes, he is a controversial figure in Tennessee. Some of his statements on the national level in his pursuit of the presidency irk many Tennesseans.

But his supporters say that everything that could be said about him in 1956 was said by his opponent, former Rep. P. I. Sutton, during the 1954 primary. They say he would carry the state for the presidency if he gets the nomination.

POLITICAL TIES are sometimes many-sided in Nashville, and it's hard to get the man in the street to be quoted by name. There was the cab driver for instance, who said he will vote Democratic because of his union and other connections.

"But I'd rather bet that Ike carries Tennessee than he don't," he said. "People think he's got spunk to run again after a heart attack."

A newspaperman who said use of his name would be embarrassing to him said he was strong for Eisenhower "but he's not going to carry Tennessee on account of TVA and Dixon-Yates."

AND A HOUSEWIFE who works for a Democratic leader said she was going to vote for Eisenhower "because of his integrity" although "I hope he really isn't for integration."

The Republicans say privately that Eisenhower will pick up an additional 25,000 Negro votes because of the integration ruling. Yet, they say, the pro-segregationists don't know whom to blame for it.

One Negro, Charles Bates, (238 persons) Memphis, said "I think we need a change—I'm for the Democrat."

And a white cab driver in Memphis, L. V. McGregor (899 Par road) said "I'll vote for any Democrat except Kefauver." He said he thought "the Republicans are more interested in the big fellows."

Women's Club Holds 21st Annual Banquet

Rosendale, March 14—Womens Club of Rosendale held its 21st annual dinner March 8 at Williams Lake Hotel, with 32 members and guests present. Included in the group were two charter members, who joined the Womens Club 24 years ago. These were Mrs. John Duffy and Mrs. George Nichols.

Guest speaker of the evening, John Duffy, talked on the activities of the Womens Club over the past years, mentioning as some of their better known projects and accomplishments, the work they did to obtain the monument on Route 32 and the opening of Hardenburg Park.

He also discussed the inadequate water system in Rosendale and the need for one in Tillson. Mr. Duffy suggested that a community center was needed in Rosendale for recreational purposes. He urged all present to support the Rosendale Volunteer Fire Department, pointing out a womens auxiliary was planned. A meeting will be held March 15 at the Rosendale Union Free School.

Following the dinner, entertainment was provided by Miss

PRIDE OF THE PARADE—This five-by-seven-foot banner will be the pride of New York City's St. Patrick's Day parade, if Ireland's County Meath men have their wish. The Meath men will march in the parade as a separate unit this year for the first time. So they ordered the "biggest and best" banner in the show. This one, designed by Elizabeth Donlan, shown inspecting it in Dublin before shipment to New York, was woven by three craftsmen working more than six months, 12 hours a day. The central figure is St. Patrick surrounded by flames representing the Pascal Fire on the Hill of Slane. Thirty-two shamrocks, symbolic of Ireland's 32 counties, are woven into a blue background.

Dorothy Schneider, who rendered several organ selections, and Jack Stack of Williams Lake who sang a number of songs, accompanied by Joseph Stein at the piano. Other entertainment was provided by Miss Joan Weir and Miss Ann Stein.

Power Supply Dips

New York, March 14 (AP)—Consumption of electrical energy in the United States last week dipped seasonally to 11,133,000,000 kilowatt hours from 11,199,000,000 the week before but was 14.5 per cent above the 9,726,000,000 kilowatt hours consumed in the like week a year ago. Reporting this today, the Edison Electric Institute said every major division of the country showed a percentage increase over the like period a year ago.

Studies of Greenland indicated that the island may be divided into at least three parts by canyons scraped out below sea level by glaciers.

Grim Safety

Columbia, Mo. (AP)—Jawwalkers in Columbia have been startled by a macabre apparition handing them printed admonitions on traffic safety. The skeleton costume, usually confined to Halloween parades, was part of the Building Trades Council's city wide safety drive.

Duo-Piano Concert To Be Held Thursday At Vassar College

A concert of unusual interest and dimension will be presented at Vassar College Thursday night when Dorothy Parrish Domonkos and Elizabeth Katzenellenbogen perform the rarely heard, Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion by Bela Bartok. This concert is the fourth in the 1955-56 series of faculty concerts presented by the Department of Music at the college.

Described by Mrs. Katzenellenbogen as "one of the most monumental works written in the last ten years," the sonata will be repeated after a brief intermission for the benefit of those wishing a second hearing.

"This composition, gigantic in scope and message," said Mrs. Katzenellenbogen, "cannot be understood by an audience in one playing because of its complexity." Before the second playing Mrs. Domonkos, who studied with Bartok in Budapest at the time this sonata was being written, will play a few main themes and give her observations on the structure of the work.

Percussion instruments for the performance will be played by Arnold Goldberg and Ronald Gould. These two artists will play three tympani, three kinds of drums, xylophone, tam-tam, suspended cymbal and pair of cymbals, and the triangle.

Mrs. Domonkos, who lives in New York city, is the sister of Professor Carl Parrish, chairman of the Department of Music at Vassar College. After graduation from the University of Minnesota, she studied for three years in Budapest, studying composition with Zoltan Kodaly and piano with Bartok. Her association with Bartok was resumed when he came to the United States, and continued until his death in 1945. She has given numerous recitals of his solo piano works throughout the country.

Mrs. Katzenellenbogen, Associate Professor of Music at Vassar College, is well known in Poughkeepsie both as a performer and teacher. Recently she has been active in promoting a series of concerts for country schoolchildren.

Arnold Goldberg and Ronald Gould, members of the Knickerbocker Chamber Orchestra heard here earlier this season in the DCMA series, bring together surprisingly varied musical backgrounds and experiences. For the past seven years they have been members of the Little Orchestra Society of New York and the New York City Ballet Orchestra. They have also enjoyed the contrasting experience of touring with the Percy Faith Recording Orchestra and recording with Robert Maxwell, noted jazz harpist. They have toured extensively under the auspices of Youth Audiences, Inc., as the New York Percussion Trio (two percussionists and pianist), giving an exceptionally popular concert series which is the basis for a forthcoming film to be shown on educational television stations.

The Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion is one of Bartok's most unusual compositions, and unique in its wealth of color and sonority. The combination of keyboards and percussion instruments is novel and original, and the result is one of fascinating effects and dynamic rhythms.

Area residents are invited to this performance scheduled for 8:30 p. m. in Skinner Hall.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

MAY SHE PROPOSE?

A reader writes me as follows: "According to tradition, at least so I have always heard, it was supposed to be quite proper during Leap Year for a woman to propose to a man. Is this true?"

How many women have been encouraged to take this opportunity to prod a shy suitor into marriage, I can't answer. I am sure there have been a few. As a matter of fact, when Priscilla said to John Alden, "Why don't you speak for yourself John?" that was a proposal in a way. From the standpoint of good taste, however, for a woman to actually propose to a man is not approved.

On Shaking Hands

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me just when one is supposed to shake hands. I'm never quite sure about this.

Answer: A host and hostess shake hands with every visitor upon entering and leaving. People in receiving lines usually shake hands all the way down the line. A lady is supposed to offer her hand to a gentleman, but if he offers his hand, she must accept. It is never permissible to refuse a proffered hand. A man shakes hands when introduced to another man. And you of course shake hands when greeting friends.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD BURNS

Schwark-Burns Nuptials Are Held

Miss Geraldine M. Schwark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Schwark of Port Ewen, became the bride of Donald J. Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. Burns, 51 Ravine street, Sunday, March 11, at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony.

Theodore Riccobono was at the organ and Martin Kelly sang the "Ave Maria" and "Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Schwark wore a gown of rose pointed lace over bridal satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, and a V neckline. Her bouffant skirt featured a peplum of lace, and terminated in a sweep train. She wore a Queen's crown of starched lace trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins which secured her French illusion finger tip veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, ivy and white orchids.

Miss Lorette Burns, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of maize nylon sheer, styled with a molded bodice with an inset of Venise lace and a bouffant floor length skirt. She wore a matching headpiece with an afternoon veil. Miss Burns carried a cascade bouquet of blue iris and yellow roses.

Clifford Schwark, brother of the bride, was the best man. Ushers included Donald Wolff, 44 Ravine street and Charles Scheid, 162 Wrentham street.

A reception was held at Ray's Riverside Rest.

Miss Schwark is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1954, and is employed by IBM in Kingston.

Midweek Lenten Services Given
The Family Life Leaders of the Ulster County Extension Service Association Home Demonstration Department attended the final training school on "Getting Along With Others."
Those attending were Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson; Miss Laura Hopkins, New Paltz; Mrs. Frank Elliott, New Paltz; Mrs. Guy Axtell, Saugerties; Mrs. Louis Zipperman and Mrs. Joseph Levine, Ellenville; Mrs. Edgar Clarke Jr. and Mrs. Paul Todaro, Milton; Mrs. Edward Harms, Hurley; Mrs. Harry Wesp, Bloomington; and Mrs. C. The Council of Study Club Chairmen met on March 6 at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue.
Mrs. Frank Exman of Stone Ridge presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson.
The tentative program for 1956-57 was reviewed. The countywide meeting on vitamins and cake decoration, huck-to-weaving and smoking, putting in hems and zippers and interesting others in forming child development and family relationships study clubs were the projects included in the program.
Program enrollments for these must be in the office by March 22, along with the names of new officers and courses of study.
Joseph Burroughs, specialist in Child Development and Family Relationships from the New York State College of Home Economics at Ithaca, was present at the meeting. He discussed the study club courses available for club use. He also announced the plans for the 1956 Family Life Conference to be held April 17-19.

It was suggested by the group that a dinner be held in June for all club members. Club chairmen are to get the reaction of their club members to this proposal.
Attending the meeting were Mrs. Robert Greer, John Schwab, George Schwab, Hubert Stern Montagny, DeWitt Hasbrouck, Edwin Wilson, Robert Krom, Cloyd Elias, Harry Snyder Jr., Glenn Clarke, Frank Exman, and Miss Everice Parsons.

The same cancellation also applies to the congregations of All Saint's Church, Rosendale and St. John's, High Falls. Announcement was made this morning by the Rev. David W. Arnold, vicar.

Rita Loses Suit
Los Angeles, March 14 (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth has lost her $75,000 breach of contract suit against Columbia Pictures Corp. and now faces the studio's countersuit for $150,000. U. S. Judge Ben Harrison ruled yesterday that Miss Hayworth was entitled to nothing because she had waived her rights, if any, by her own actions. She claimed Columbia failed to start principal photography on the movie "Joseph and His Brethren" in time for her to take her daughter Yasmin to see Aly Kahn in Europe July 1, 1955.

Lenten Speaker At Presbyterian Church Thursday

The Rev. David H. C. Read of Scotland, successor to the famed Dr. George A. Buttrick as pastor of the large and influential Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York city, is to be the guest preacher Thursday at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, for the second of three Lenten services, which are sponsored annually by the Church Session and are open to the public.
With a background of scholarly distinction, outstanding success in the pastorate, heroic ministry as chaplain to the British Army involving five years of imprisonment by the Nazis, seven years of Chaplaincy at the University of Edinburgh, many lectureships and preaching honors at various universities in Canada, Australia, Great Britain and this country, the coming of the Rev. Mr. Read is considered a distinct event in the religious life of Kingston.

For his Lenten message, the subject will be "Uncomfortable Words." The musical program, arranged by Miss Edna Merrihow, organist and choir director, is to consist of the following numbers: Organ prelude, Andante by Guilman; anthem by the senior choir, "Saviour, When Night Involves the Sky" by Shelley; selected solo by William J. McVey, Jr., baritone of New York; and organ postlude, "Lenten Postlude" by Koch. The service will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. William J. McVey.

Body of Coed Found
Alva, Okla., March 14 (AP)—The charred body of a 21-year-old Northwestern State College bride, who officers surmise was killed by an unknown assailant, was found yesterday in the flaming wreckage of her car on a lonely country road near Alva. D. R. Reynolds, teacher and athletic coach at nearby Avard High School, identified the body found 10 miles south and 2½ miles west of here, as that of his wife, Mildred Ann Reynolds. He said she drove the lonely country road every day to attend college classes in Alva. He said he last saw his wife when she left home early yesterday.

Briefly Told
March 14 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today paid tribute to the U. S. Military Academy and designated Friday "West Point Day" in New York state.
"For 154 years," Harriman said in a proclamation, "West Point has been training leaders in the arts not only of war but of peace, and our country is deeply indebted to them for their contributions to our national security and to the building of American ideals."

Gloversville, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—A vacant three-story frame building that formerly housed the Robinson Tanning Corp. plant was destroyed by fire last night.
Flames, fed by exploding oil and chemical drums, leaped about 300 feet in the air while a crowd of about 6,000 persons watched.
Miss Elisabeth Robinson, the owner, estimated the loss at several thousands dollars.
The cause of the fire was not determined.

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Miss Linda Clark of Albany, a senior at the College of St. Rose, was presented with the National Catholic Welfare Council's Youth of the Year award last night.
The Most Rev. William A. Scully, bishop of the Albany Catholic Diocese, made the presentation and praised Miss Clark's scholarship and "consistent leadership" in activities at the college.
Gov. Harriman and Mayor Erastus Corning were among those present at the ceremony.

Herkimer, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—A retired telegraph operator who figured in the drama of relaying the word to Theodore Roosevelt that he was president died of a heart attack yesterday.

John H. McVeigh, 80, was station agent for the New York Central Railroad at Big Moose in the Adirondacks on Sept. 14, 1901, when the official word came from Buffalo that President William McKinley had died of an assassin's bullet.
McVeigh relayed the message on a new telegraph line to North Creek where Roosevelt, the vice president, was staying at a hunting lodge.

Publisher Is Chosen Boss of Year by Assn.

New York, March 14 (AP)—A Yonkers, N. Y., publisher has been chosen 1956 "Boss of the Year" by the New York city chapter of the National Secretaries Assn.

The chapter presented a plaque to Edgar J. Buttenheim

Mrs. Alicia Cogan, Buttenheim's secretary, nominated him for the honor. She said:

The Mature Parent

This Dad Isn't Noble; He's Enslaved to Romantic Ideal

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Kate's Aunt Verna, her father's youngest sister, has lots of money. She lives many states away in a beautiful house, and Kate has only seen her twice. But every Christmas and birthday, she sends wonderful presents — black velvet dresses, bicycles, electric trains and beaver fur sets—to Kate and her little brother.

Some weeks ago she flew East. One evening after dinner at Kate's house, she proposed taking Kate home with her during spring school vacation.

When she had left, Kate's mother said, "You can go if you want to, dear."

Her father said, "It's up to you, daughter."

Kate is 11. She burst into tears and cried, "How do I know what to do. I don't know Aunt Verna!"

I am glad to say that her parents realized the cruelty of asking her to make the decision without the knowledge she needed to make it—and undertook to tell Aunt Verna that though they appreciated her kindness, Kate was too young to visit so far away from home.

The point of this column is succinctly made in "Don't Be Afraid of Your Child" by psychiatrist Dr. Hilde Bruch who writes: "Permissiveness—the attitude of not forcing a child — often takes the form of letting him make his own decisions. It is frustrating, even terrifying to a child when he is expected to make decisions for which he is unprepared. It becomes even more painful and confusing when he is aware that his parents leave the decision to him out of good intention."

I'm not as kind as Dr. Bruch. I think our modern anxiety to leave decisions to children is usually egotism.

Take Kate's parents. Their prime interest was not Kate, but the display of the proper "progressive" respect for a child's right to decide for himself.

Lost in their ambition to acquire themselves as well-behaved modern parents, they ignored the very real conflicts involved in the decision they were forcing on their child: her natural desire to please the Aunt of the wonderful presents—and her equally natural distrust of that Aunt's strange authority.

She was a sensible child to refuse to make it.

Illness Closes School

Sodus, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—The Sodus Central School in this Wayne county village was closed today until next Monday because of a high rate of respiratory ailments. F. S. Hungerford, supervising principal, issued the order yesterday on the recommendation of the school physician. Hungerford said about 20 per cent of the school's enrollment of 1,244 pupils were out because of illness.

Virus Hits Teachers

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Pupils at the suburban Spackenkill School have received an unexpected vacation for the rest of the week. Principal Martha Lawrence last night called off classes until March 19 because 12 of the 18 teachers on her staff are out with virus illness.

Teenagers Face Life Terms for Murder

Baltimore, March 14 (AP)—Three boys in their teens faced life in prison today following their conviction of first degree murder in the holdup-slaying of grocer Louis Pristoop.

Sentenced yesterday were Tyrone John Stokely, 17, Edward Butler and Richard Avon Briscoe, both 15. All are Negroes.

Judges James K. Cullen and Cornelius P. Mundy, who returned the verdict, said only the age and mental status of the boys saved them from the death penalty.

Paristoop apparently thought the boys were joking when they entered his northwest Baltimore store last Christmas Eve. Testimony indicated that when he was told he was being held up, he pointed his finger at the boys and said, "bang, bang."

Will Tour Britain

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—Georgi Malenkov left by plane for Britain today to tour British power stations. It is the former Soviet premier's first trip to the western world. Malenkov and his party of Soviet electrical engineers were to spend the night in East Berlin, then fly on to London tomorrow. Since he resigned the premiership in February, 1955, Malenkov has been a deputy premier and minister of Soviet power stations.

Saugerties Advances in Tournament; Kerhonkson Ousted

Jack Houghtaling Gets All-Conference Rating

JACK HOUGHTALING

Jack Houghtaling, a member of last year's Kingston High School basketball squad, was recently selected for honorable mention on the Empire State Junior College All-Conference team. Houghtaling drew the plaudits of rival coaches for his play on the Mohawk Valley Technical Institute of Utica five.

AS A FROSH guard, he sparked the Hawks throughout their 10-game schedule. In Tech's last eight games, Houghtaling averaged for 14.1 points and a 17.6 average. This spurt hiked his season's total to 233 points, scored on 96 field goals and 41 free throws, and a final game average of 12.2.

Coach Jon Carpenter has only the highest praise for the scrappy operative and is counting heavily on him in next year's plans.

Trout Steps

Hungry Horse, Mont. (P) — To build a mountain highway, a creek was guided into a culvert but it was too steep for spawning trout to make the grade up Flathead River's South Fork. Steps were built along the 138-foot culvert for the trout to climb. Five series of three metal baffles in each series provide slack water, from which the trout can leap.

Joe Cascarella, Laurel's executive vice-president, was a member of the baseball team which toured Japan in 1934. He won 12 games as a rookie that year with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Indoor Drills For KHS Tossers

Kingston High School opens indoor baseball practice Thursday afternoon at the field house according to newly-appointed Coach Al Gruner.

Gruner revealed that opening day and Friday drills are reserved for catching hopefuls. He set next Monday as the first workout for pitchers. Drills, including those for infielders, are to be conducted twice a week starting Monday up until the Easter weekend. Gruner then hopes to get his boys outside for full-scale work at Dietz Stadium.

Basilio 2-1 Pick To Beat Saxton

Chicago, March 14 (P) — It's slugger vs. boxer for the world welterweight title tonight as champion Carmen Basilio defends his 147-pound crown against ex-titlist Johnny Saxton. Basilio, a wade-in belter, held as a 2-1 favorite as the two scrappers turned up for the official weigh-in at the Chicago Stadium (1 p. m. EST) where the 15-round title match will be contested beginning at 10 p. m. EST.

The scrap will be televised and broadcast by ABC.

This is the second title defense for Basilio, 28, who won the championship from Tony De Marco June 10, 1955, and then repulsed De Marco's bid to recapture the crown Nov. 30, the champs last start.

Saxton, 25, lost the 147-pound title to De Marco April 1, 1955, on a 4th round TKO in his first defense after winning the title from Kid Gavilan with a much-debated decision Oct. 20, 1954.

Roscoe Ousts Ellies, 74-72

With big Roger Alban hitting for 29 points, Roscoe Central school ousted Ellenville High from the Class B Section Nine Tournament last night, 74-72, at the Middletown High gym.

The win placed the Blue Devils into the semi-finals Thursday against Haverstraw High at Middletown in the opening game. Bruce Lamb's Western Sullivan League champions rampaged for 28 points in the first period and never were headed. The Ellies rallied from the bad first session in the last period, but were bit too late.

Mike Tannenbaum paced the losers with 20 points.

Sawyers Surprise Port Jervis Five In Class B Tilt

Clarkstown Wins By 64-58 Count

Saugerties High School moved into the semi-finals of the Section Nine Class B Tournament last night, while Kerhonkson High was ousted from play in games at Washingtonville and Middletown.

The Sawyers earned the right to battle Clarkstown Central Thursday at the Mid-City by surprising Port Jervis High, 50-48. Darkhorse Clarkstown pulled a mild upset of its own in handing Kerhonkson a 64-58 setback.

BUD SMITH'S troupe led all the way against the Porters in a duel of UCAL-DUSO runner-up teams. Port, which was a second choice to win the tourney, never saw daylight and could only get even three times.

Joe Martin and Bill Hanna were their usual brilliant selves for Saugerties. The backcourt aces poured through 31 points, with apple-cheeked Martin getting 21.

MARTIN WAS the coolest customer on the court. With the pressure on in the last two minutes, he calmly swished four successive fouls to clinch the victory. In the final half minute, Martin put on a solitary freeze and wound up holding the ball on an out-of-bounds play for the last five seconds to kill the clock.

Hanna thrilled the packed house of more than 800 with his spectacular overhead shooting, hitting five times from long range. He also led the rebounding along with Wayne Plough and Bert Ledwith.

PORT ALL-DUSO operative Fred Ropke was bottled up all evening and only managed four points. Center Alex Oswick topped the Raiders scoring with 15 points and was followed by Joe Regelski with 12 and Charlie Jenks with 11.

Kerhonkson couldn't cope with jump-shooting Artie Orlando, who registered 22 points. Orlando hit his first seven of nine shots to get Clarkstown off winging in the first period, 20-11.

CHICK MEEHAN'S newly crowned UCAL champions methodically cut in the deficit and finally tied the score 37-all in the third period with Werner Wustrau and John Mustion doing most of the damage. But the Rockland county club unknotted the score to go ahead at the three-quarter mark and were never caught.

WUSTRAU LED everyone with 25 points, while Mustion threw in 17. Joe Bayer hit 24 to pace the victors.

CLARKSTOWN (62) — Orlando f 22, Bayer f 24, Hay c 5, Owens g 6, Pugsley g 3.

KERHONKSON (58) — J. Mustion f 17, Gilman f 8, Wustrau c 25, Stockin g 8, Steers g 0, B. Mustion g 0.

Bruins Lead Leafs by One

(By The Associated Press)

The Boston Bruins were one thin point in front of the Toronto Maple Leafs today in the mad scramble for the final Stanley Cup playoff berth in the National Hockey League.

The Bruins have 59 points to 58 for the Leafs. The Bruins have only one game left, against last-place Chicago on Sunday. If they win that, the Leafs will need two victories to pull into the playoffs. If the Black Hawks defeat the Bruins, the Leafs will need only to split their final two games to gain the playoffs.

Boston looked good last night defeating the second-place Detroit Red Wings, 4-0.

Razor Man Sharp Again

Sal Maglie Flashes Old Wizardry Against Cubs

By BEN OLAN
(The Associated Press)

Sal Maglie, the erstwhile barber of the New York Giants' pitching staff, is out to make a clean start with the Cleveland Indians this season.

And Maglie has more than one incentive going for him.

He's out to:

1. Regain the healthy salary cut he took in signing his 1956 contract.
2. Prove that he's not washed up at 38.
3. Win his first American League game.

MAGLIE, who reportedly was slashed the maximum 25 per cent in salary, was sitting atop the baseball heap a scant five years ago when he won 23 games for the Giants.

He had 14 victories in 1954, but a 9-5 mark last summer before the Indians bought him from the Giants. With Cleveland he was 0-2.

Yesterday, however, the menacing-looking righthander from Niagara Falls, N. Y., gladdened the heart of Manager Al Lopez by turning in a brilliant three-inning stint against the Chicago Cubs.

The Indians won the exhibition game 11-7 but it was Maglie's showing that made the victory more palatable. He walked lead-off man Gale Wade and then set down the next nine Cubs in order, registering three strikeouts.

MEANWHILE, Maglie's former teammates, the Giants, maintained their perfect exhibition record by edging the Baltimore Orioles 7-6 on George Wilson's single with the bags loaded in the 11th inning. The triumph was New York's fourth straight. The Giants got home runs from rookie Bill White, West Westrum and Dusty Rhodes. Dusty was a pinch-hit-

Sicklers Whip Pine Plains, 87-62; Affrons Crush Pelicans

Delivery Five's Strong Second Half Is Clincher
Oilers Rack Up 90-38 Win Over Falls Cagers

Sickler's Delivery made its Kingston Tournament debut in typically lethargic fashion last night, staging a rousing second half to trounce Pine Plains A.C., 87-62, at the municipal auditorium.

Affron's power laden Oilers of Newburgh crushed Highland Falls Pelicans, 90-38, in the tournament opener. It is believed to be the widest margin of victory ever scored in a KBT contest.

In Thursday's games, Backs Cedaraps of Kingston send a brilliant array against the Catskill Merchants at 7:30 p. m.

Poughkeepsie Trabassos meet the Otisville Merchants at 8:45 p. m. Backs expect to have George Carpozis, Marty Kaye, Coach Buddy Smith of Kingston backed up by Leroy Scott, 6-foot-5 Iona College captain.

With only Ed Konowski and Frank Koenig acting like Siena College material, Sicklers were hard pressed to eke out a 30-28 margin over Pine Plains in the first half. Yielding height advantage, the Plainsmen were forced to most of their shooting from outside.

THE SECOND half was a different story as Koenig and Konowski sparked a brilliant 57-point spree.

Konowski, who drilled 10 straight free throws, finished with 27 points, 13 from the charity stripe. Koenig canned 20 and Ralph Fedullo had 12.

Walt Shook bucketed 19 and Fred Couse had 16 for Pine Plains.

Coach Stan Levinson's Newburgh city champions toyed with Highland Falls as all ten players crashed the scoring column.

THE AFFRONS led 21-5 at the quarter mark and 42-22 at halftime. The Fallsmen were probably the weakest entry ever to show in the local tournament.

Bob Spreer and Frank Couillard, a pair of former Newburgh Academy aces, fired 16 points apiece for Affrons. George Kohler and George Handler each hit 10 and Ralph Petrillo, ex-Harvard varsity performer, rimmed 15.

Shining light for the Pelicans was Jim Malley with 21 points. The boxscores:

'Gutless Authorities'

Williams Pins Podres Status on Draft Board

Sarasota, Fla., March 14 (P)—

Ted Williams says Brooklyn

pitcher Johnny Podres faces drafting by "gutless" authorities

"for no other reason than he gets famous by beating the Yankees

in the World Series."

The Boston Red Sox slugger lashed out yesterday on the

Podres case as typical of policies toward well-know ball players.

Podres recently was reclassified 1-A from 4-F after being deferred three years due to a bad back.

"PODRES IS paying the penalty for being a star," said the fuming Williams. "If Podres had lost those World Series games, he would probably still be with the Dodgers."

Williams blamed the situation on "gutless draft boards, gutless politicians and gutless sportswriters."

"When Podres became a hero in the series," Williams continued "some politicians said,

'why isn't a big strong kid like that in the army.'"

"The draft boards didn't have ticians and the sportswriters are

Williams was joined in sentiment by New York Yankee infielder Billy Martin.

"Ted's absolutely right," Martin chimed in. "I know. They

Haverstraw High Topples Goshen In B Section

Haverstraw High School spurted, in the second half to down stubborn Goshen Central, 55-44, and advance into the semi-finals of the Class B Section Nine Tournament last night at Washingtonville.

The Red Raiders won the game from the foul line, sinking 17 of 20 attempts, while Ted Dunn's crew hit only six for 17. Both clubs made 19 field goals.

The county seaters led the defending tourney champion 29-26 at halftime, but Ralph Cordisco's classy outfit untracked themselves with a 18-point third period to go ahead 44-36 and were never caught.

FLASHY GUARD Jim Welch led the Rockland county team with 18 points. Giant center Ed Green pitched in 13 and Tony Citarella 12.

Jump-shooting Denney Brown topped the victims with 13 points. Bob Lattimer chipped in with an even dozen.

Haverstraw meets Roscoe Central Thursday at the Middletown High gym in the windup contest. Roscoe won its way in the semi-finals by tripping Ellenville, 74-71.

No Cut-Throat Market For U. S., Says Morse

Caracas, Venezuela, March 14 (AP)—Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said today the United States will engage in fair competition—"not in a cut-throat race"—for foreign markets for its farm products.

"The United States," he said, "believes in a broad improvement in trade in which not only we but our foreign friends can share."

In a talk prepared for a conference of U. S. agricultural attaches stationed in Central and South America, Morse told them one of their jobs is to "build good will and understanding among foreign people, in behalf of U. S. agriculture and its programs, policies and products."

HE SAID that in presenting the U. S. position abroad, the attaches are asked to make other countries aware of four points—that the United States is a good customer for foreign products, that it is a "responsible" exporter, that it believes in a broad improvement in trade and that it is trying to balance its farm output to its markets.

Noting that surpluses plague farmers the world over, Morse said the United States does not want to contribute to existing surpluses, adding:

"Our growers of wheat, cotton, rice, and tobacco have voluntarily restricted their production."

Morse said much remains to be done to boost U. S. farm exports, and he continued:

"EVEN THOUGH our agricultural exports today are 22 per cent higher, volume basis, than the average of the preceding 30 years, they are not keeping pace with over-all gains in world agricultural trade. Much needs and can be done to give foreign customers greater access to the products of U. S. farms."

In declaring the United States will not engage in cut-throat competition, Morse referred to a recent American announcement that surplus cotton will be offered abroad at lowered prices. Several other nations have protested.

"As indicated by the recent announcement of our new cotton export policy," he said, "we need and we intend to be competitive in world markets—but our aim is, always, friendly competition, fair competition."

Five Are Indicted For Mail Fraud

Buffalo, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Five men have been indicted on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in the alleged $423,771 swindle of a Rochester industrialist.

The indictments, each containing 17 counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy, were returned by a federal grand jury yesterday.

They named Leo F. Hampton, 74, and Patrick H. Lennon, 50, of New York city; Harold P. Odum, 60, of Valley Stream, L. I.; George V. Arlen, 56, of Dobbs Ferry; and Aldus H. Turner, 62, of Hollywood, Fla.

Hampton pleaded guilty in federal court to the conspiracy charge and four of the mail fraud charges.

He was ordered held in $20,000 bond for sentencing. No date was set.

The other four, free under $20,000 bond, were scheduled for arraignment in Rochester March 26.

The five men were accused of defrauding Augustine J. Cunningham, 77, president of a plumbing and electrical equipment manufacturing firm.

Federal authorities said Cunningham was swindled over a four-year period in a scheme involving phony electronic patents which the accused men claimed would be worth $60,000,000 in "royalties from the radio, television and motion picture industries."

Actors Ask Change

Albany, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—A bit of Broadway came to the capital yesterday but not for entertainment's sake. Strictly business. Kim Hunter, who won an academy award in 1952 for a supporting role in "A Streetcar Named Desire," headed a group of stage and film representatives seeking support for a change in the unemployment insurance law. The group talked with Walter J. Mahoney, Senate majority leader, and Sen. Macneil Mitchell, Manhattan Republican.

Under present law, an applicant for unemployment insurance must have worked 20 weeks during the preceding year or earned $1,000. The group asked that the work period be shortened to 15 weeks.

Monsignor Dies, Two Women Are Missing in Fire

Trenton, N. J., March 14 (AP)—A monsignor died and two women housekeepers were missing today in a spectacular pre-dawn fire which destroyed St. Mary's Roman Catholic Cathedral and the adjoining rectory in the heart of the state capital.

A THIRD WOMAN housekeeper, at first reported missing, was located later in a hospital.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard T. Crean, vicar general of the Trenton diocese and rector of the cathedral, was found dead in an upper story of the fourth floor rectory at Bank and North Warren streets.

The spectacular general alarm fire brought out 15 fire companies and 150 city firemen. Volunteer companies from the surrounding New Jersey and Pennsylvania areas were called to fight the blaze.

TWO PRIESTS were injured in the blaze. Another jumped to safety into a net held by firemen in the driving rain.

The missing included Miss Mary Donnellan and Miss Mary Brennan, housekeepers, and an unidentified woman cook.

Survivors of the fire said that Msgr. Crean, formerly of Camden, evidently perished when he ran through the combination rectory and chancery warning other residents of the structure.

INJURED IN the fire and taken to McKinley Hospital were the Rev. Peter J. Mooney, 31, and the Rev. Joseph O'Connor, 38. They suffered second degree burns and other injuries.

The Rev. Francis McGuinness, 29, who leaped into the fire net, was taken to Mercer Hospital, suffering from shock and minor injuries.

The Rev. William F. Fitzgerald and the Rev. Thomas C. Ryan, assistant chancellors, fled unhurt.

To execute a criminal by any kind of death other than that to which he has been condemned officially is murder, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Admits Slaying Six

Montgomery, Ala., March 14 (AP) — State's attorneys headed for court today with the bizarre tale of a middle-aged waitress who, they said, admitted slaying her mother, three small daughters and two of her five husbands with arsenic. Plump, 49-year-old Mrs. Rhonda Bell Martin also told in a signed statement, said Circuit Solicitor William F. Thetford, how she fed ant poison to her present husband who was once her stepson. He is still alive though paralyzed. The Auburn-haired waitress waived preliminary hearing in City Court today on the only formal charge thus far drawn up against her — the killing of Claude Martin, her fourth husband, in 1951.

Coined Motto

The motto "In God We Trust" on American coins is credited to Rev. M. R. Watkinson who suggested a similar wording to Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury, in 1861.

President . . .

ten in by more than 21,100 voters.

A newsmen told Eisenhower the President's own victory in New Hampshire was taken for granted since he had no opposition. But what did Eisenhower think of the "rather large" write-in for Nixon.

The President replied with a smile that apparently a lot of people in New Hampshire agree with what he himself has had to say about Nixon.

Eisenhower then turned gravely serious and said he had one more thing to say about Nixon, and then he would say absolutely nothing more until Republican National Convention time next August.

IT WAS AT that point Eisenhower said no one should try to drive a wedge between him and Nixon, and that he would be happy to have Nixon with him on any political ticket.

If those words are not plain enough, the President said, he has nothing to add.

Later in the news conference, a reporter asked Eisenhower whether he had understood the President's remarks regarding Nixon correctly — that Eisenhower would be happy to have Nixon on any political ticket with him.

Yes, the President shot back, that was just what he meant. He added he had said the same thing last week.

THAT APPARENTLY was a reference to his news conference statement a week ago that he had no quarrel with Nixon as a man, as an associate, or as a running mate.

After Eisenhower said he would have nothing more to say about Nixon, a reporter asked whether Nixon had reported to the President yet on what he wants his political future to be. Eisenhower told the newsmen he was about five minutes late with that question. Then he touched off a wave of laughter by declaring he would say this:

That he had advised Nixon in advance as to what he was going to say about him at today's news conference.

The "complete left rear end" of the patrol car was damaged, the report said. It was towed from the scene.

THE SHERIFF'S office was notified to assist with traffic. Sgt. Charles Hoehing also went to the scene, and Officers Raymond Wells, Ernest Bartroff, and William Slover, were also at the scene after the second mishap.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., and the public works department were also notified. The police report said the street was in "very slippery condition."

The United States had a 207,000 net increase in the number of resident aliens last year.

Ike, Kefauver Sweep N.H. Vote; Nixon Surprises

Manchester, N. H., March 14 (AP) — Nearly complete returns today from New Hampshire's first in - the - nation presidential primary election gave Vice President Nixon an astonishing 21,000 votes—all write-ins—and emphatically endorsed Sen. Estes Kefauver for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Nixon's name was not on the ballot, he did no campaigning, and there was no organized effort on his behalf.

THE VOTES apparently represented a spontaneous upsurge of public sentiment for the much-argued vice president.

The primary also produced these results:

1. It elected 14 Republican Convention delegates, all backers of President Eisenhower. None of seven candidates, who had filed as favorably to Sen. Knowland (R., Calif.), was elected. The seven had entered the primary before Eisenhower announced he would seek a second term.

2. The President's total in the preferential primary was 55,082 on the basis of returns from 289 of the state's 297 precincts. Knowland received 307 write-ins and there were 67 for Chief Justice Warren and 64 for Sen. Styles Bridges (R.-N.H.).

3. KEFAUVER won all 12 Democratic delegates with 8 convention votes. These are the first votes in the nation formally pledged to any candidate. A 12-man slate running as favorably to Adlai Stevenson—who did not campaign in this state—was beaten in every race.

4. Kefauver's presidential preference vote total was 21,340 on the basis of 289 precincts. Stevenson received 3,391 write-ins but the tremendous and wholly unexpected write-in vote for Nixon was the outstanding fact of this election.

"It should clearly indicate that New Hampshire's choice for vice president is Dick Nixon," said Sen. Bridges who himself received a chunk of write-ins for the vice presidential nomination.

dens, valued at upwards of $2,000,000."

The Kingston Housing Authority, he said, "pays taxes on the land assessment of $5,730," on the Colonial Gardens tract. The net loss to the city, he held, would be $22,010 in assessment, "when it is turned back to the city in April."

BENSON A. KROM, president of the Ulster County Real Estate Board, spoke in behalf of redevelopment of the sixth ward by means of the urban renewal plan, but opposed a low-cost housing project.

On motion of Joseph Epstein, lower Broadway merchant, the association will become a dues-paying organization as of April 1. Epstein said the people of the area should put their community above their politics.

PRESIDENT SEITZ said the organization was not going to take a political stand, but he held that the people of the area "should not forget their friends in the Common Council on Election Day no matter what political banner they run under."

Speakers at the session urged members of the association and residents of the area to prevail upon city officials to push for an early start of the urban renewal plan.

Named to Kilgore's Post

Charleston, W. Va. March 14 (AP)—The Democrats' 49-47 margin in the U. S. Senate was restored yesterday when Gov. William C. Marland appointed William R. Laird III to temporarily fill the seat of the late Harley M. Kilgore. Laird, 38-year-old Fayetteville Democrat, is now state tax commissioner. He was a classmate of Marland at West Virginia University. The new appointee will serve in the Senate until a successor is selected in the November election and sworn into office next January.

Soap Box Derby Operations Heard By Lions Club

Operation of the Soap Box Derby in the Hudson area was described to the Kingston Lions Club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Joseph Murrell, director of the derby in that city, told the Lions that the derby, sponsored by Chevrolet, Inc., was national in scope. A successful derby requires the cooperation of the local Chevrolet agency, newspapers and other organizations, he said.

ANY NUMBER of boys up to 14 years of age may participate in the derby. Each boy is "sponsored" by a local business organization and wears the "colors" of that firm into the race.

Each purchases a set of wheels and parts from the local automobile agency. A blueprint showing how to build the car is supplied by the agency.

Winners in a local derby would compete in a county derby, going thence into state and national competition. The national derby will be held in Akron, O.

A total of $15,000 in scholarships will be awarded to national winners. Smaller prizes are usually offered in local derbies by area organizations.
